DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE,
Ottawa, November 4, 1964.

The Honourable Walter L. Gordon,
Minister of Finance,
Ottawa, Canada.

Sir:

I have the honour to submit the Public Accounts of the Government of Canada for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1964.

This annual report is required by section 64 of the Financial Administration Act, and, in accordance with the recommendations of the 1961 Standing Committee on Public Accounts, is presented in three volumes:

Volume I—A survey of the transactions of the fiscal year, together with statements, certified by the Auditor General, of the revenue and expenditure for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1964, and of the assets and liabilities of Canada as at March 31, 1964, together with a statement of the contingent liabilities, departmental summaries of appropriations and expenditures, and various other supporting schedules, explanatory notes, statements and appendices.

Volume II—Details of revenue and expenditure by departments together with certain statements required by the Financial Administration Act to be published in the Public Accounts.

Volume III—The financial statements of all Crown Corporations and the auditors' reports thereon.

A few changes in the form and content of the 1963-64 Public Accounts should be noted.

In Volume I an analysis of the government's accounts on the National Accounts basis has been included in Section 2 "Highlights of the government's operations".

In order to present the information in a clearer manner, and to facilitate printing, the material in Volume I has been re-arranged and the volume divided into ten sections.

In 1963-64 the statement of appropriations and expenditures by departments as presented in Section 8 of Volume I and the vote details in the departmental sections of Volume II provide, in addition to information indicating the total amount granted for each service, the amounts granted by the Main Estimates and by each of the Supplementary Estimates. In this way, the amounts provided through estimates, at various times, are shown in respect of each appropriation and Members of Parliament and others will have no need to refer to the Main Estimates and the Supplementary Estimates for this information.

Respectfully submitted,

R. B. BRYCE,
Deputy Minister of Finance.

THE GOVERNMENT'S ACCOUNTING SYSTEM

To assist the reader who is not familiar with the government's financial statements and general system of accounting, a brief outline of some of the more significant features of these and particularly of those aspects which differ from normal commercial accounting practices is given in the paragraphs which follow.

There are two generally accepted bases or systems of accounting. One is the "cash" basis under which revenues are taken into the accounts in the period in which they are received in cash and expenditures are accounted for when the actual disbursements are made; the other is the "accrual" basis under which revenues are accounted for when earned or due, even though not collected and expenditures are accounted for when the liabilities are incurred whether payment is made in that accounting period or not.

Many factors must be considered in determining how the government's voluminous and varied transactions should be recorded and brought into focus in a clear and comprehensive way. In business, the accounts are usually maintained on an accrual basis. However, the prime purpose of government accounting is to serve the requirements of Parliament and more particularly to ensure effective control by Parliament over public moneys. As parliamentary control in Canada is predicated on the operation of the consolidated revenue fund, which is by law a cash account, and on regulating the flow of cash receipts into and cash payments out of the fund, it follows that the accounts of Canada are maintained basically on a cash system. However, there is provision in the Financial Administration Act for bringing into the accounts of each fiscal year expenditures relating to that year, which on a pure cash basis would be excluded, and in addition certain modifications have been made to facilitate the maintenance of accounting control over certain assets and liabilities, and to provide for valuation adjustments for recorded assets in anticipation of possible losses on ultimate realization.

Revenue and expenditure

Revenues are reported on a cash basis and consequently taxes assessed and due and other revenues receivable or accrued (including interest accrued) are not normally set up as assets on the government's statement of assets and liabilities.

On the expenditure side, under the provisions of section 35 of the Financial Administration Act, for thirty days after the end of each fiscal year, payments for the discharge of debts properly applicable to the old year may be made and charged to that year. Consequently, liabilities under contracts and other accounts payable at March 31 for which cheques are issued during the month of April are charged as expenditures in the old year and appear as current liabilities on the statement of assets and liabilities. This is a significant modification of pure "cash" accounting, and brings into the year's transactions the greater part of those expenditures which on the cash basis would be excluded, but which on the accrual basis would be included and carried to the statement of assets and liabilities as accounts payable. In other respects the expenditure accounts reflect refinements of the cash basis. For example, discounts and commissions on loans are not charged to expenditure in the year in which they are paid, but are set up as deferred charges on the statement of assets and liabilities and are amortized or written off to expenditure during the period of a loan. Also, losses on loans and advances and on other assets are not generally charged to expenditure in the year in which the loss is sustained; instead provision has been made from time to time for a reserve for possible losses on the realization of assets to which the ultimate loss when determined may be charged by parliamentary authority.

Prior to 1951–52, it was the practice to charge interest on the public debt as it became due rather than when it was paid. This was a modification of the strict cash basis of accounting, but in 1951–52 a further modification was made whereby the charges to budgetary expenditure for interest on the public debt were made month by month as the interest accrued rather than annually or semi-annually as it became due and payable. This change is in line with the aim previously mentioned of bringing into the accounts of the year all the expenditures relating to that year. No comparable change in the treatment of interest receivable was made as it was not considered appropriate to accrue interest receivable which might or might not be received or to take it into account in determining the revenue for the year before it was actually received.

These examples will serve to indicate that while revenue is reported on a cash basis, in expenditure reporting significant modifications have been made in the cash basis to achieve many of the advantages which accrual accounting would produce. The practice is essentially conservative in that on the one hand the budgetary liabilities are set up or are otherwise taken into the accounts for the year, and on the other, tax and other revenue assessments, interest accruals (with certain exceptions) and accounts receivable are not treated as assets or taken into revenue until collected.

Assets and liabilities

Section 64 of the Financial Administration Act directs that the Public Accounts of Canada shall include:

> "A statement, certified by the Auditor General, of such of the assets and liabilities of Canada as in the opinion of the Minister are required to show the financial position of Canada as at the termination of the fiscal year."

The assets and liabilities of Canada are set out so as to disclose the amount of the net debt. In 1920, the practice was established of offsetting against the gross liabilities only what were designated as "active" assets in determining the net debt. In the budget speech of May 18, 1920, the following explanation was given by the Minister of Finance:

> "Assets which are not readily convertible, as the reserve is convertible, or are not interest producing, are not such assets as ought to be deducted from the gross debt. They are inactive, they are items of such a character as might well be placed in a suspense account. At any rate, whatever may be their future value, however great it may be, they are not assets of such a character as to directly reduce the gross debt any more than the other capital accounts of the country ought to be deducted from it."

Since that time, there has been no fundamental change in the basic structure of the statement or in its main purpose. However, revisions have been made from time to time to improve the form or manner of presentation, and it is believed that to a substantial degree the present statement fulfills the original intention, with consideration being given continually to the possibility of further improvements.

With certain exceptions, taxes and revenues receivable, revenue and other asset accruals and inventories of materials, supplies and equipment are not recorded as assets (except when these are held as charges against working capital accounts or revolving funds) nor are public works and buildings or other fixed or capital assets. Following the principle that only realizable or interest- or revenue-producing assets should be offset against the gross liabilities, costs of capital works are charged to expenditures at the time of acquisition or construction. Consequently government buildings, public works, national monuments, military assets (such as aircraft, naval vessels, and army equipment) and other capital works and equipment are recorded on the statement of assets and liabilities at a nominal value of $1 as the value is not considered as a proper offset to the gross liabilities in determining the net debt of Canada.

On the liabilities side, accrued liabilities (except for interest accrued on the public debt) are not taken into account in determining the obligations of the government. However, under section 35 of the Financial Administration Act, liabilities under contracts and other accounts payable at March 31 if paid on or before April 30 may be charged to the accounts for the year. These are recorded as accounts payable in the "Current and demand liabilities" schedule to the statement of assets and liabilities.

The liabilities of the government, as shown in the statement of assets and liabilities include:

(1) unmatured debt, consisting of bonds and treasury bills;

(2) current and demand liabilities, including matured debt outstanding, outstanding treasury cheques, interest due and outstanding, interest accrued, accounts payable, non-interest-bearing notes payable to international organizations and other obligations payable on demand;

(3) sundry funds deposited with the Receiver General of Canada or held in trust for various purposes;

(4) amounts to the credit of various annuity, insurance and pension accounts;

(5) undisbursed balances of appropriations to special accounts, which, in accordance with the legislation under which they are authorized, are available for expenditure in periods subsequent to the fiscal year in which they are granted;

(6) amounts due to the government but in respect of which payment has been deferred; these are contra accounts to corresponding items under "Loans to, and investments in, Crown corporations", "Loans to national governments" and "Other loans and investments"; and

(7) suspense accounts, consisting of balances where some uncertainty as to disposition exists.

The indirect or contingent liabilities of the government are shown as a special note appearing in the body of the statement of assets and liabilities and are also set out in a detailed supplementary statement.

Offsetting the direct liabilities, and in a measure explaining their existence, as a substantial portion of the total debt is attributable to them, are the government's recorded assets. For the most part, these consist of assets which yield interest, profits or dividends, and very liquid assets such as cash and departmental working funds. The principal classes of assets are:

(1) current assets, including cash, securities held for the securities investment account and departmental working capital advances and revolving funds;

(2) advances to the exchange fund account for the acquisition of gold and foreign exchange;

(3) sinking fund and other investments held for retirement of unmatured debt;

(4) loans to, and investments in, Crown corporations;

(5) loans to national governments;

(6) other loans and investments, including loans to provincial and municipal governments, subscriptions to international organizations and a number of miscellaneous advances to veterans and others;

(7) securities held in trust for various deposit and trust and annuity, insurance and pension accounts and bonds and certified cheques held in connection with contractors' security deposits;

(8) deferred charges which consist of the unamortized portions of the actuarial deficiencies in the public service superannuation account, representing that portion of the government's liability in respect of this account that has not been charged to budgetary expenditure and discounts, commissions, redemption bonuses and conversion premiums on loan flotations, remaining to be charged to expenditure;

(9) suspense accounts;

(10) capital assets, a category set up to cover capital assets that are charged to budgetary expenditure at the time of acquisition or construction and which are shown on the statement of assets and liabilities at a nominal value of $1; and

(11) inactive loans and investments which are not currently yielding interest, profits or dividends.

A reserve for losses on the realization of assets is not shown as a liability but is deducted from the total of the assets.

Net debt

The excess of the gross liabilities over the net recorded assets is designated as the net debt and a separate schedule to the statement of assets and liabilities is presented showing the changes in the net debt during the fiscal year. In effect, the net debt is the accumulated overall deficit since Confederation. The list of items charged to net debt is presented in appendix No. 11, in section 9 of this volume.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE GOVERNMENT'S FINANCIAL OPERATIONS DURING 1963-64

This section outlines the financial operations of the government giving a brief summary of the budgetary and non-budgetary transactions, the unmatured debt transactions and the change in the cash position during 1963–64 and the debt position as at March 31, 1964. More detailed explanations of these transactions are given in subsequent sections of this volume.

In order to meet the interests of economists there is included in this section a presentation of the federal government revenue and expenditure on the National Accounts basis.

The following table summarizes the budgetary and non-budgetary transactions for 1963–64 with comparative figures for 1962–63 and indicates how these transactions affected the government's cash balances:

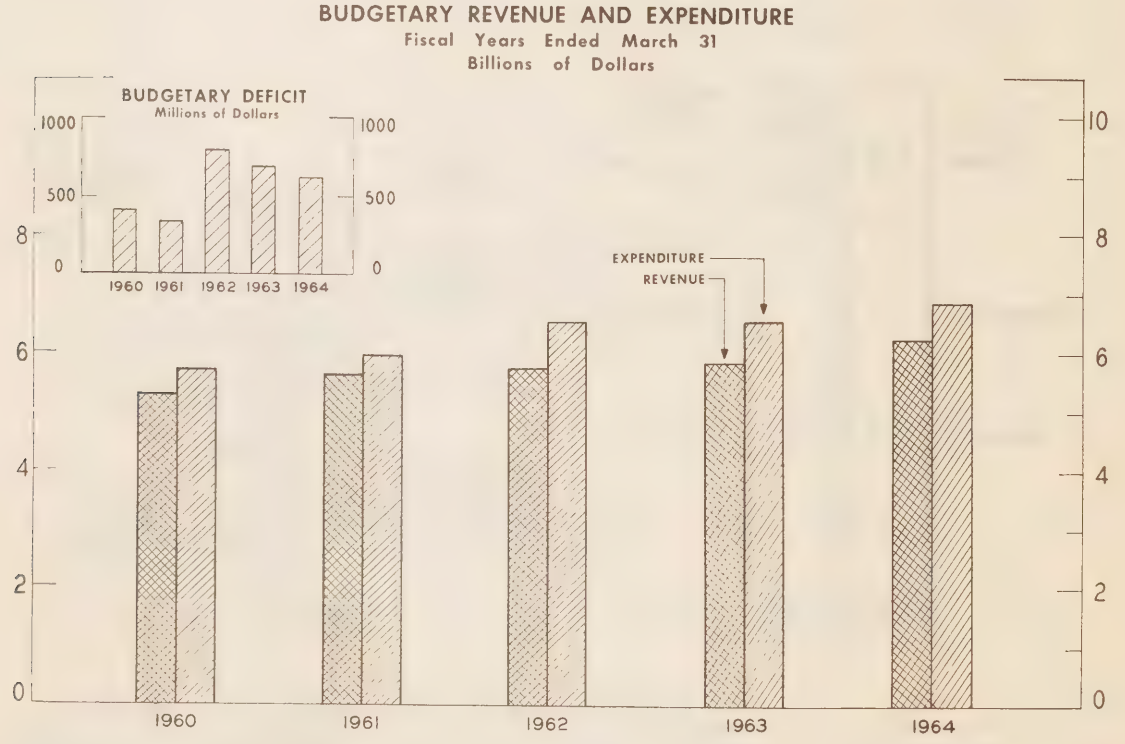
BUDGETARY REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE AND FINANCING OF CASH REQUIREMENTS

For Fiscal Year 1963-64

Revenue

Budgetary revenue of the government in the fiscal year 1963–64 amounted to $6,253 million. This was $63 million or about one per cent more than the July 8, 1963 revised forecast of $6,190 million and $375 million or approximately 6 per cent more than the total of $5,878 million collected in 1962–63.

Tax revenue accounted for $296 million and non-tax revenue accounted for $78 million of the increase over 1962–63 receipts.



Receipts from the sales tax were $140 million more than in 1962–63 due in part to the imposition, effective June 14, 1963, of a 4 per cent sales tax on building materials and production machinery and equipment. The drop of $64 million in receipts from customs import duties was due in large part to the removal of special surcharges which were in effect in 1962–63. The yield from personal income tax and from corporation income tax was $197 million more than collections in 1962–63 due to a higher level of incomes during 1963 and higher corporate profits in 1962.

Expenditure

Budgetary expenditure of the government in 1963–64 amounted to $6,872 million, $27 million or less than one-half of one per cent higher than forecast and $302 million or approximately 4½ per cent higher than expenditure of $6,570 million in 1962–63.

Defence expenditure totalling $1,723 million, including a charge of $77 million to provide for additional liabilities in the Canadian forces superannuation account resulting from increased rates of pay, was 25 per cent of total budgetary expenditure compared with $1,600 million or 24 per cent in 1962–63 and was again the largest category.

Civil or non-defence expenditure was $5,149 million compared with $4,970 million in 1962–63, an increase of $179 million. There were increases of $76 million in public debt charges, $56 million in contributions to the provinces under the Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act and $50 million in the operating loss of the agricultural stabilization board and a decrease of $72 million in contributions to provinces under the Technical and Vocational Training Assistance Act.

Deficit

Expenditure of $6,872 million exceeded revenue of $6,253 million resulting in a deficit of $619 million compared with the July 8, 1963 revised forecast of $655 million and the deficit of $692 million in 1962–63.

Non-budgetary transactions (excluding unmatured debt transactions)

Non-budgetary transactions are those which result in increases or decreases in the government's asset and liability accounts and do not enter into the calculation of the annual budgetary surplus or deficit.

In 1963–64 non-budgetary transactions (excluding those in respect of unmatured debt) resulted in a net receipt of $337 million. Non-budgetary disbursements and charges totalled $642 million and receipts and credits amounted to $979 million. In 1962–63 non-budgetary disbursements and charges totalled $1,906 million and receipts and credits amounted to $1,134 million resulting in a net requirement of $772 million.

Old age security fund

Pension payments from the fund during 1963–64 in the amount of $808 million exceeded receipts of $750 million by $58 million. In 1962–63 payments were $734 million and receipts were $691 million. The increase of $74 million in pension payments was largely the effect of the increased rate of payment (from $65 to $75 per month) effective October 1, 1963.

The excess of $58 million in 1963–64 was financed by temporary loans by the Minister of Finance to the fund and brought the total of outstanding loans to $100 million at March 31, 1964.

The transactions in the account during 1963–64 compared with those for 1962–63 are as follows:

	Fiscal year ended March 31
	1964	1963
	(in millions of dollars)
Pension payments	808	734
Tax receipts	750	691
Excess of payments over receipts (−)	−58	−43
Temporary loans by the Minister of Finance carried forward	−42
Balance in fund at beginning of year		1
Temporary loans by the Minister of Finance outstanding at fiscal year-end	100	42

Other loans, investments and working capital advances

Non-budgetary receipts and credits amounted to $262 million and non-budgetary disbursements and charges amounted to $319 million. During the year the Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited, exercised its option to purchase from Northern Canada Pipe Line Crown Corporation the Northern Ontario section of the natural gas pipeline. As a result of this transaction the corporation repaid all of its outstanding loans which totalled $111 million.

Exchange fund account

Advances to finance the purchase of gold and foreign exchange are recorded in this account. In 1963–64 there was a net repayment of advances of $135 million compared with net advances to the fund of $943 million in 1962–63. The large net advance in 1962–63 was due to the exchange situation which developed during the spring of 1962.

Non-interest-bearing notes payable on demand

There was a decrease of $170 million in the holdings of these notes in 1963–64 compared to an increase of $385 million in 1962–63. The increase in the previous year was mainly the result of transactions with the international monetary fund. Notes in the amount of $368 million were issued to the fund to replace Canadian dollars remitted to the Receiver General by the fund in accordance with standing arrangements. The decrease in 1963–64 reflected a partial repayment of notes issued in 1962–63.

Insurance and pension accounts

Net receipts of $364 million in these accounts included government contributions of $120 million, interest of $141 million credited to the accounts by the government and further government contributions of $80 million to provide for additional liabilities resulting from increased rates of pay for the Canadian forces and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. In 1962-63 net receipts of $472 million included government contributions of $115 million, interest credits of $122 million and a revaluation adjustment of $199 million credited to the Canadian forces superannuation account.

Unmatured debt transactions

Unmatured debt transactions in 1963–64 resulted in an increase of $734 million in unmatured debt outstanding in the hands of the public compared with an increase of $1,064 million in 1962–63.

Cash position

Receiver General bank balances were $452 million greater at March 31, 1964 than at March 31, 1963. This is the amount by which the increase of $734 million in unmatured debt outstanding in the hands of the public, plus the net amount of $337 million available from non-budgetary transactions, exceeded the budgetary deficit of $619 million.

Debt position

As a result of these budgetary and non-budgetary transactions the gross public debt increased by $1,124 million to $25,924 million, net recorded assets decreased by $26 million to $10,854 million and net debt increased by $1,150 million (equivalent to the budgetary deficit of $619 million plus adjustments of $531 million in respect of prior years' transactions) to $15,070 million as at March 31, 1964.

Federal Government Revenue and Expenditure on the National Accounts Basis

With the present size and complexity of government transactions, the government's accounts may be called upon to serve several purposes and it is not realistic to expect that any one presentation will completely satisfy all requirements. The public accounts are designed primarily to permit parliamentary and administrative control over the various items of government expenditure. The information on government activities that is presented for these purposes does not permit ready assessment of the impact of government revenue and expenditure flows on the economy. Consequently, it is useful to regroup the figures for government revenue and expenditure in such a way as to bring out the transactions between the government and other sectors of the economy as they appear in the framework provided by the national accounts. Within the national accounts framework, the activities of each sector of the economy are defined and recorded in a manner consistent with each other, and relationships among sectors are readily apparent.

The national accounts presentation of revenues and expenditures differs from the parliamentary budgetary presentation in several ways. In respect of coverage the national accounts presentation includes the operations of a number of non-budgetary or extra-budgetary accounts including the government employee pensions funds, the old age security fund and the unemployment insurance fund; revenue on the national accounts basis includes employer-employee contributions and other income of these funds, while expenditure on the national accounts basis includes the out-payments from the funds. On the other hand, a number of transactions which are included in the parliamentary presentation are eliminated from the national accounts presentation because they are of internal significance and do not involve income flows between the government and other sectors of the economy. Budgetary items such as provisions for reserves and write-offs are excluded from expenditure in the national accounts presentation for this reason, while budgetary appropriations to government funds and crown agencies are replaced by the actual expenditures of these funds and agencies. In addition, purchases of land and existing capital assets are excluded from expenditure on the national accounts basis, since they do not constitute new production.

The two approaches also differ somewhat in respect of the activities they include within the federal government sector. In the national accounts, economic impact rather than the legal form of organization under which an activity takes place is the criterion for determining whether it is "government" or "business". The post office which is legally a department, for example, is treated as a business enterprise in the national accounts rather than as part of the government sector; the activities of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, on the other hand, are included under those of the federal government.

Another important difference between these two accounting presentations is in the matter of timing. The national accounts attempt to measure real flows of production and income which may differ in timing from the corresponding monetary flows and, as a consequence, accrual accounting is followed in the national accounts as consistently as possible. For instance, profits of government business enterprises are entered in the national accounts presentation as they are earned whereas profits are recorded in the public accounts as they are remitted to the government. In addition, corporation taxes are recorded as the liabilities are incurred by companies and not when they are paid; consequently, government revenue on a national accounts basis may reflect more closely cyclical movements in corporate profits.

Apart from these various conceptual differences between the national accounts and parliamentary budgetary presentations of revenue and expenditure, two provisos should be borne in mind in respect of the following tables. First, preliminary data have been used for some of the national accounts figures and these are subject to revisions. Second, these national accounts tables refer only to revenue and expenditure items: they exclude the government's transactions in financial assets such as advances to the exchange fund and loans to government-owned business enterprises like the Canadian National Railways and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation which may, of course, have a considerable impact on the economy through their effect on the size and composition of the community's financial assets. A government financial transactions account is presently not available to include with this revenue-expenditure presentation but considerable development work is being done in this area.

Federal Government Revenue and Expenditure, National Accounts Presentation

Federal government revenue and expenditure for the years 1962–63 and 1963–64 are presented on a national accounts basis in the following table. The deficit of the federal government on this basis declined from $414 million in 1962–63 to $195 million in 1963–64; the rise in revenue of $420 million was more than sufficient to offset a $201 million increase in expenditure.

*Preliminary estimates.

All the components of revenue, with the exception of the non-resident withholding tax, showed rather substantial increases. Personal direct tax revenues increased by $145 million and corporate tax accruals rose by $100 million. Indirect taxes rose by $92 million with an increase in sales tax revenue of $125 million partly offset by a $67 million decline in customs duties receipts. Investment income, which includes the earned profits net of losses of government business enterprises, was up by $67 million; the deficit of the Canadian National Railways declined by $30 million, and Bank of Canada and Exchange Fund profits were somewhat higher than in the previous fiscal year. Employer-employee contributions to social insurance and government pension funds increased by $20 million.

The increase in government expenditure on the national accounts basis was almost completely accounted for by larger transfer payments. Government expenditures on goods and services which account for about 40 per cent of total expenditures increased by only $8 million. Transfers to persons were up by $64 million because of an increase of $73 million in old age security benefits, an $11 million rise in government employee pension payments and a $6 million increase in family allowance payments; these changes more than offset a $37 million decline in unemployment insurance benefits. Interest on the public debt increased by $73 million from 1962–63. The national accounts figures for interest on the public debt are somewhat lower than the public accounts for two reasons; issuing and servicing charges in the public accounts item are treated as expenditures on goods and services in the national accounts while the annual budgetary expenditure for amortization of bond discounts and commissions is excluded from the national accounts because this item does not involve current flows of income between the government and private sectors.

Subsidy payments to businesses were up by $34 million in 1963–64 mostly because of an increase of $25 million in rail subsidies. Federal government payments to the provinces and municipalities increased by $22 million. Payments under the hospital insurance and diagnostic services agreement rose by $52 million, Trans-Canada Highway grants were up by $10 million and unemployment assistance grants were increased by $8 million. Federal-provincial fiscal arrangement payments and vocational training payments were each down by about $30 million from 1962–63.

Reconciliation of the Public Accounts and National Accounts Presentations

The differences between the national account and the parliamentary budgetary presentations are set out specifically in the following tables which reconcile the budgetary portion of the public accounts with the national accounts revenue and expenditure for 1962–63 and 1963–64. The budgetary deficit declined from $692 million in 1962–63 to $619 million in 1963–64 while the government's deficit on a national accounts basis declined from $414 million to $195 million. Federal government revenue on a national accounts basis increased more rapidly in 1963–64 than budgetary revenue while national accounts expenditure showed a smaller year-over-year increase than budgetary expenditure.

Several factors contributed to the more rapid increase in revenue on the national accounts basis during 1963–64. Receipts from extra-budgetary sources such as old age security taxes, and both the interest earnings of and employer-employee contributions to the unemployment insurance fund and government employee pension funds were higher than in the previous fiscal year. In addition, the corporate tax accruals which are recorded in the national accounts ran ahead of the corporate tax collections recorded in the public accounts reflecting the upward movement in corporate profits. On the other hand, the adjustment to place investment income in the national accounts on an earned rather than a remittance basis tended to work in the opposite direction: the increased earnings of government business enterprises were more than offset in 1963–64 by the rise in investment income actually remitted to the government during that period.

Expenditure on a national accounts basis did not rise as fast as budgetary expenditure during 1963–64 largely because some of the items which contributed to the increase in budgetary expenditure did not involve income flows to other sectors of the economy and as pointed out previously they are excluded from the national accounts presentation. The expenditure reconciliation table indicates that the two largest of these items were budgetary expenditure on reserves and write-offs, which were up substantially because of a $77 million write-off in respect of an actuarial adjustment to the Canadian forces superannuation account, and the increased budgetary appropriations to government funds and crown agencies. The actual outpayments from these funds and agencies which replace appropriations in the national accounts did not show a similar increase. These changes more than outweighed a number of others which on balance would tend to increase national accounts expenditure relative to budgetary expenditure: payments from extra-budgetary funds, particularly those for old age security and government pensions, were up substantially and these were only partially offset by lower unemployment insurance benefits and prairie farm assistance payments.

[2]This adjustment replaces budgetary appropriations to various funds and agencies by the outlays actually made by these funds and agencies.

[3]Government capital assistance to industry appears as part of business gross capital formation and is removed from the government sector to avoid double counting in the national accounts.

[4]The largest component of this item consists of revenue from sales of goods and services by the government sector. These sales appear as final expenditure of the private sector and are deducted to avoid double counting.

BUDGETARY ACCOUNTS

A statement of budgetary expenditure by departments and a statement of budgetary revenue classified as to main category, as certified by the Auditor General, is presented in section 7 of this volume on a comparative basis, showing expenditures and revenues for the fiscal years 1963–64 and 1962–63. A description of the accounting treatment of budgetary expenditure and revenue is given in section 1 of this volume.

This section outlines in more detail the transactions in the budgetary accounts.

BUDGETARY REVENUE BY MAJOR SOURCE

BUDGETARY EXPENDITURE BY MAJOR FUNCTION

For Fiscal Year Ended March 31, 1964

1. Does not include payments out of old age security fund.
2. Does not include those payments made to provincial and municipal governments for specific purposes.

Summary

Total budgetary revenue of the government was $6,253 million in 1963–64 compared with $5,878 million in 1962–63 an increase of $375 million. There were increases of $192 million in income tax collections, $104 million in other tax collections and $78 million in non-tax revenue.

Total budgetary expenditure was $6,872 million in 1963–64 compared with $6,570 million in 1962–63, an increase of $302 million. Non-defence expenditure increased by $179 million and defence expenditure by $123 million.

The resulting budgetary deficit of $619 million for 1963–64 was $73 million less than the 1962–63 deficit of $692 million.

The following table shows budgetary revenue, expenditure and the resulting deficit for each of the fiscal years ended March 31, 1960 to 1964 inclusive:

In the following table the budgetary revenue, expenditure and deficit for the fiscal year 1963–64 are analysed by months:

As is shown in the preceding table there were month to month variations in both revenue and expenditure. However, the table also shows that although 46 per cent of total revenue was received in the first six months and 73 per cent in the first nine months, expenditures for the same periods were 43 per cent and 67 per cent respectively. The heavier expenditure in the latter half of the fiscal year was due to the fact that under provisions of the Financial Administration Act expenditures properly chargeable to 1963–64 may be made in April of the following fiscal year and also to the fact that deficits of Crown corporations and special operating accounts are not known until late in the fiscal year. Expenditures in the supplementary period amounted to $489 million or 7 per cent of total expenditure while revenue collections recorded as receipts in the supplementary period totalled $146 million or 2 per cent of total revenue. These collections represent moneys in the hands of collectors or in transit on March 31 but not deposited to the credit of the Receiver General at that date.

Revenue

Although revenue is affected by changes in taxation rates, by changes in the base on which taxes are calculated and by economic conditions generally, the system of collecting personal and corporation income taxes on the instalment plan has resulted in a more even distribution of receipts.

It is noted that personal and corporation income taxes collected by the federal government on behalf of the provinces, and subsequently remitted to the provinces, are not included in the tables shown here.

Personal income tax

Refunds of personal income tax over-deductions are offset against gross receipts in the category "Deductions at source". This resulted in considerably lower net receipts in the months of April, May and June of 1963 and March of 1964. Refunds for these months were $70 million, $74 million, $41 million and $78 million respectively.

Included in the category "Other collections" are taxes paid by instalments which are usually received in July, October and January with final instalments in April and May with the filing of income tax returns.

BUDGETARY REVENUE BY MONTHS AND MAJOR SOURCE
For Fiscal Year Ended March 31, 1964
Millions of Dollars

Corporation income tax

Under the provisions of the Income Tax Act corporations are required to pay tax in monthly instalments but the period during which they pay tax for a taxation year does not coincide exactly with that taxation year. Since corporations are not required to start making monthly payments for a taxation year before the seventh month of that taxation year most of them did not start to pay for their 1963 taxation year before the end of July 1963.

Receipts in 1963–64 during April, May, June and July were therefore largely in respect of the 1962 taxation year and those in the remainder of the year were largely in respect of the 1963 taxation year.

Customs import duties

These collections varied between a low of $43 million in April and a high of $56 million in October reflecting normal fluctuations in imports.

Sales tax, other excise taxes and duties

Although these receipts varied from month to month, it is noted that $749 million or 46 per cent was received in the first six months and $864 million or 54 per cent in the remainder of the fiscal year.

All other revenue

The large receipts in December 1963 and March 1964 were due to substantial returns on investments received in those months.

Expenditure

Expenditure is usually greater towards the end of the fiscal year because many construction contracts which are let in the early part of the year do not come up for payment until some months later and deficits sustained by Crown corporations and losses incurred in the operation of various agencies and accounts are not known until the end or towards the end of the fiscal year. Also, under section 35 of the Financial Administration Act, for thirty days after March 31, payments properly applicable to the old year may be made and charged to that year's accounts.

Defence

Expenditures for defence which accounted for 25 per cent of total budgetary expenditure varied from a low of $72 million in April 1963 to a high of $223 million in March 1964.

Public debt charges

Monthly charges in this category were fairly consistent. The noticeable decrease in November was due to an adjustment of interest accrual charges for Canada savings bonds. These interest accruals are affected by savings bonds redemptions and, if these vary from original estimates, adjustments are necessary.

Payments to provinces

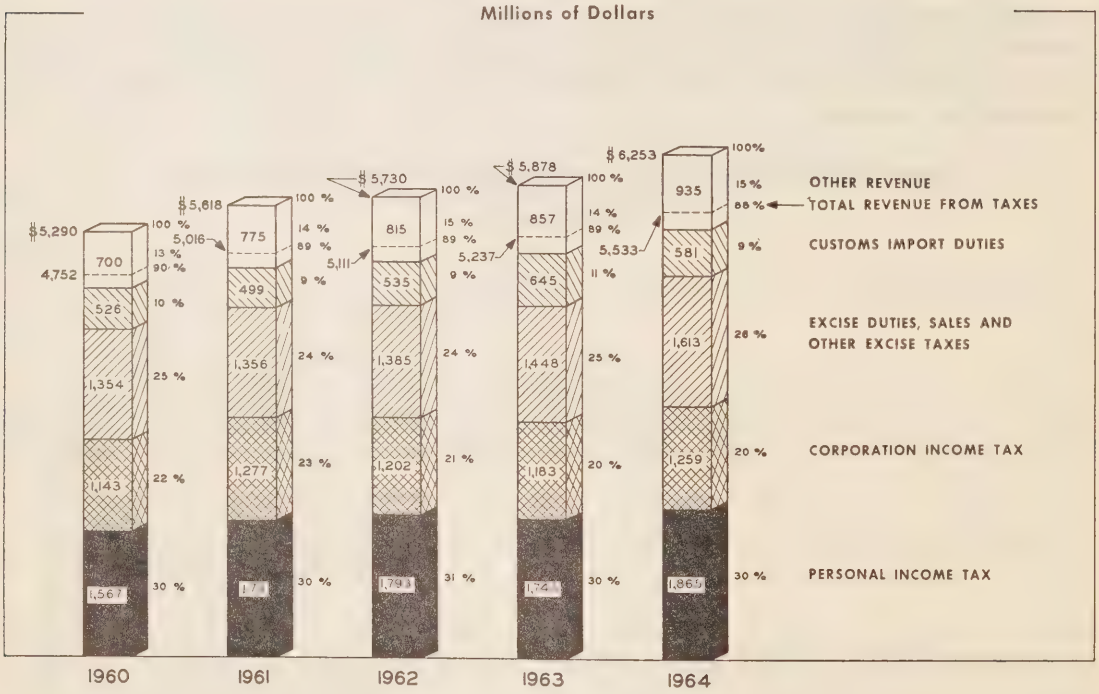
The higher payments in July 1963 and January 1964 were due to subsidies which were paid in those months. The higher payment in March 1964 was due to adjustments in respect of payments under the Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements Act.

Public works and transport

Expenditures under this category were only 38 per cent for the first six months compared with 62 per cent in the remainder of the fiscal year. This was due mainly to construction contracts coming due for payment late in the year.

Family allowances and veterans affairs

The nature of these payments explains the evenness of the monthly expenditure charges.



All other expenditure

As the table shows these expenditures varied from month to month. Some of the large items in this grouping were (a) charges in the supplementary period of $122 million to cover the net operating loss of the agricultural stabilization board, $77 million for a special contribution to the Canadian forces superannuation account and $43 million to cover the 1963 deficit of the Canadian National Railways (b) a charge of $42 million in January for Canada's contribution to the Colombo plan fund and (c) charges each month in respect of total payments for the year of $392 million under the Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act, $136 million under the Technical and Vocational Training Assistance Act, $107 million for unemployment assistance, $117 million for the government's regular contributions to the superannuation accounts and $59 million for the government's contribution to the unemployment insurance fund.

TAX REVENUES

Federal-provincial fiscal arrangements

The 1957–62 tax rental agreements under which the federal government made tax rental payments to certain provinces lapsed on December 31, 1961. Under the 1962–67 fiscal arrangements, the federal government withdrew in part from the field of direct taxation and left the vacated area to the provinces. The former renting provinces imposed their own personal and corporation income taxes effective January 1, 1962, and the federal government entered into agreements with them to collect these levies without charge, provided that the provincial personal income tax was expressed as a percentage of the federal personal income tax otherwise payable and the provincial corporation income tax applied to taxable income calculated in the same way as for federal income tax purposes. To allow for the imposition of the provincial income taxes, the Income Tax Act was amended (1) to abate the federal income tax otherwise payable by individuals resident in all provinces by 16 per cent in 1962, 17 per cent in 1963, 18 per cent in 1964, and by 21 and 24 per cent in 1965 and 1966 respectively in all provinces other than Quebec and by 24 and 27 per cent in Quebec, and (2) to reduce the federal corporation income tax rates by 9 percentage points for taxable income earned in a province other than Quebec and by 10 percentage points for taxable income earned in Quebec. The additional 3 percentage points abatement of the federal income tax otherwise payable by individuals resident in Quebec in 1965 and 1966 is to allow that province to impose a higher effective rate of provincial income tax in order to raise additional revenue to pay youth allowances which in the other provinces are paid by the federal government. Similarly the additional one per cent reduction in respect of taxable income of corporations earned in the province of Quebec is to compensate for the additional tax levied by the province on corporation income to provide grants for the universities. The federal government has entered into tax-collection agreements under which it collects the provincial personal income taxes for all provinces except Quebec and the provincial corporation income taxes for all provinces except Ontario and Quebec. With the exception of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, the provinces which have entered into tax-collection agreements have imposed personal and corporation income taxes equivalent to the federal withdrawal. The Provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan have each imposed their personal income tax at a rate exceeding the federal abatement by 6 percentage points and their corporation income tax at the rate of 10 instead of 9 per cent of the taxable income of corporations in 1962, 1963 and 1964.

Under these agreements payments are made monthly to the provinces based on an estimate of the provinces' tax revenue. When the actual amounts of assessed returns are established, usually in the month of December following the end of the fiscal year, adjustments are made with the provinces.

Tax on personal income

Personal income tax was again the largest source of government revenue. The yield (excluding the old age security tax) was $1,865 million or 30 per cent of all budgetary revenue and was $121 million or 7 per cent more than 1962–63 collections. However, in addition to the federal revenue of $1,865 million, $287 million was allocated to the provincial tax collection agreements account under the terms of the Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements Act. In 1962–63 federal revenue from this source was $1,744 million and $252 million was allocated to the provincial tax collection agreements account under the terms of the Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements Act.

The tax on personal incomes levied under the Old Age Security Act and credited to the old age security fund totalled $303 million compared with $274 million in 1962–63.

Corporation income tax

Federal revenue from this source (excluding the old age security tax) totalled $1,259 million or 20 per cent of all budgetary revenue. This was $76 million or 6 per cent higher than collections in 1962–63. In addition, $97 million was allocated to the provincial tax collection agreements account under the terms of the Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements Act. In 1962-63 federal revenue was $1,183 million and $65 million was allocated to the provincial tax collection agreements account under the terms of the Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements Act.

The tax on incomes of corporations levied under the Old Age Security Act and credited to the old age security fund was $116 million compared with $115 million in 1962–63.

Taxes on dividends, interest, etc. going abroad

Income taxes withheld on payments of dividends, interest, rents, royalties, alimony and income from estates and trusts, paid to non-residents amounted to $125 million compared with $129 million in 1962–63.

Excise taxes

Sales tax

From a revenue standpoint the general sales tax was the most important tax levied under the Excise Tax Act. Receipts therefrom (excluding the old age security tax) were $946 million or 15 per cent of all budgetary revenue. This was $140 million or 17 per cent higher than 1962–63 collections. This substantial increase over the 1962-63 total of $806 million was due in part to the imposition, effective June 14, 1963, of a 4 per cent sales tax on building materials and production machinery and equipment.

The tax on sales levied under the Old Age Security Act and credited to the old age security fund was $332 million compared with $302 million in 1962–63.

Other excise taxes

Other excise taxes levied under the Excise Tax Act were $273 million, an increase of $13 million over the 1962–63 receipts.

Increases of $9 million from the tax on tobacco products, $2 million from the tax on television sets, radios, tubes and phonographs, and $1 million from the tax on toilet preparations were the main items responsible for the overall increase.

Customs import duties

Receipts from this source totalled $581 million compared with $645 million in 1962–63. The decrease of $64 million was due in large part to the removal of surcharges which were in effect in 1962–63.

Excise duties

Excise duties are levied on alcoholic beverages (other than wines) and tobacco products. (Additional taxes on tobacco products are levied under the Excise Tax Act.) Net receipts were $393 million compared with $382 million in 1962–63.

Gross receipts of $232 million from duties on alcoholic beverages ($129 million in respect of spirits and $103 million in respect of beer) and $166 million from duties on tobacco products were reduced by refunds and drawbacks of $5 million. Comparative amounts in 1962–63 were $220 million ($122 million and $98 million) and $167 million respectively.

Estate tax

Revenue in this category is derived under the Estate Tax Act, assented to September 6, 1958, and also includes some revenue collected under the Dominion Succession Duty Act (which was replaced by the Estate Tax Act). Receipts in 1963-64 totalled $91 million compared with $87 million in 1962–63.

Other taxes

Other tax revenue consists mainly of taxes on insurance premiums and a small amount from an export tax on furs exported from the Northwest Territories. Receipts totalled $92 thousand compared with $27 thousand in 1962–63.

NON-TAX REVENUE

Non-tax revenue totalled $720 million in 1963–64, $78 million or 12 per cent higher than 1962–63 receipts.

Loans to, and investments in, Crown corporations

Income from Crown corporations was $246 million, $38 million more than the 1962–63 total of $208 million.

Bank of Canada profits in the amount of $116 million paid to the government were $20 million higher than in the previous year. Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation paid $80 million in interest on debentures, $6 million more than in 1962–63 and interest payments of $13 million by the Canadian National Railways were $9 million more than in the previous year.

Other loans and investments

The yield from other loans and investments was $120 million, an increase of $17 million over the 1962–63 total.

Exchange fund profits paid to the government were $63 million compared with $35 million in 1962–63; interest on loan to the United Kingdom was $21 million and interest from deposits with chartered banks was $14 million, both amounts approximately the same as in 1962–63.

Post office revenue

Gross post office receipts amounted to $236 million in 1963–64. However, authorized disbursements from revenue for salaries and rent allowances, other allowances and commissions at semi-staff and revenue offices, commissions at sub-offices, transit charges on Canadian mail forwarded through and delivered in foreign countries, etc., in the amount of $35 million, brought net revenue to $201 million. In 1962–63 gross revenue was $222 million, authorized disbursements were $29 million and net revenue was $193 million.

The increase of $14 million in gross receipts reflected higher revenue from postage and the increase of $6 million in authorized disbursements reflected higher costs for salaries and allowances.

As is shown in the section on budgetary expenditure the operating costs of the Post Office Department (excluding the $35 million charged directly to revenue) were $207 million. As net revenue was $201 million there was a net operating loss of $6 million.

However, the total shown for post office revenue does not reflect any payment for the franking privilege covering parliamentary and departmental mail or for certain miscellaneous services provided for other government departments and agencies; nor does the total shown for expenditures reflect any charges for premises occupied by the Post Office Department or for certain accounting and miscellaneous services provided by other departments.

Refunds of previous years' expenditure

Refunds in 1963–64 of expenditure made in prior years totalled $27 million, $5 million more than refunds in 1962–63.

The Department of National Defence received $19 million, of which $5 million was refunds of customs duties and sales tax, $5 million was in respect of the Korean operations pool, $4 million was from adjustments due to cost audits and $1 million was from adjustments of contracts with the United States Government. When Canada places contracts with the Government of the United States, payments of estimated costs are made to that government. If these estimated costs are revised, or if there are reductions in the contracts, the excess payments are refunded.

Services and service fees

During 1963–64 revenue from this source was $51 million compared with $46 million in 1962–63.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police received $15 million, compared with $13 million in 1962–63, for police services mainly to provinces and municipalities. The Department of Transport received $6 million in fees for marine services and $11 million in fees for air services; comparative amounts in 1962–63 were $6 million and $9 million. The Department of Agriculture received $4 million for inspection, weighing and storage of grain, and $1 million for supervision of race tracks; these amounts were approximately the same as in 1962–63. The Department of National Health and Welfare received $3 million in reimbursement by the provinces in connection with hospital insurance plans for treatment of Indians in federal government hospitals;

1962–63 receipts were approximately in the same amount. The Department of Trade and Commerce received $2 million for inspection of electricity, gas, weights and measures which was the same amount received in 1962–63. Other services and service fees totalled $9 million compared with $8 million in 1962–63.

It consists of a net gain of $5 million on silver bullion and coinage, $2 million on bronze, $2 million on nickel, and small amounts obtained from gold refining charges, handling charges and gain on gold refining.

In addition to the profit on bullion and coinage, the Mint also realized a profit of $1 million from completed sales of uncirculated coins and coin sets which is reported under the category "Services and service fees".

Other non-tax revenue

Other non-tax revenue totalled $9 million in 1963–64 compared with $8 million in 1962–63.

Appropriations

Although a major part of the expenses of the public service is defrayed from moneys granted by Parliament in the annual appropriation acts, substantial payments are also made under authority of other acts which authorize expenditures out of the consolidated revenue fund for specified purposes and for such definite or indefinite amounts and during such periods of time as the acts may prescribe. The spending authority granted in these annual appropriation acts differs from that granted in "statutory" authorities in that it is usually for a specific amount and of definite duration and, unless there is provision to the contrary in the wording of the vote, any unused balance lapses at the end of the fiscal year for which it was granted, as provided by section 35 of the Financial Administration Act.

The following is a summary of budgetary expenditure provided under the authority of the annual appropriation acts and various statutory authorities for the fiscal year ended March 31 1964. A statement in greater detail, classified by departments, is given in section 8 of this volume.

In addition, an amount of $27 million was carried forward from 1962–63 for expenditure in 1963–64 in accordance with provisions made in the original appropriations.

Disbursements during 1963–64, under authority of these appropriations, amounted to $4,067 million. Consequently, $229 million, or about 5 percent of the amount provided by the appropriation acts for budgetary expenditures, was unspent at the close of the fiscal year. Of this amount $174 million lapsed in accordance with section 35 of the Financial Administration Act and $55 million was available for expenditure in 1964–65 in accordance with provisions of the appropriation acts.

Budgetary expenditures during 1963–64 under the authority of statutes authorizing payments from the consolidated revenue fund for specific purposes without further appropriations amounted in the aggregate to $2,805 million representing approximately 41 percent of the total of $6,872 million for all budgetary expenditures. A comparative summary of these statutory expenditures by principal classes is shown in the following table:

EXPENDITURE

Budgetary expenditure was $6,872 million in 1963–64 compared with $6,570 million in 1962–63, an increase of $302 million or 5 per cent.

Defence expenditure of $1,723 million was again the largest category accounting for 25 per cent of total expenditure and was $123 million or 8 per cent higher than in 1962–63 when it was $1,600 million or 24 per cent of total expenditure. The increase was due mainly to a special government contribution of $77 million to the Canadian forces superannuation account to provide for additional liabilities resulting from increased rates of pay.

Non-defence expenditure amounted to $5,149 an increase of $179 million or 4 per cent over 1962–63 expenditure of $4,970 million. Items of note were increases of $76 million in public debt charges, $55 million in government contributions under the Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act and $42 million in Department of Agriculture expenditure and a decrease of $71 million in Department of Labour expenditure.

More detailed information is given in subsequent paragraphs of this section.

A comparative summary of budgetary expenditure, classified by department and principal classification, is presented for the 1962–63 and 1963–64 fiscal years in the following table:

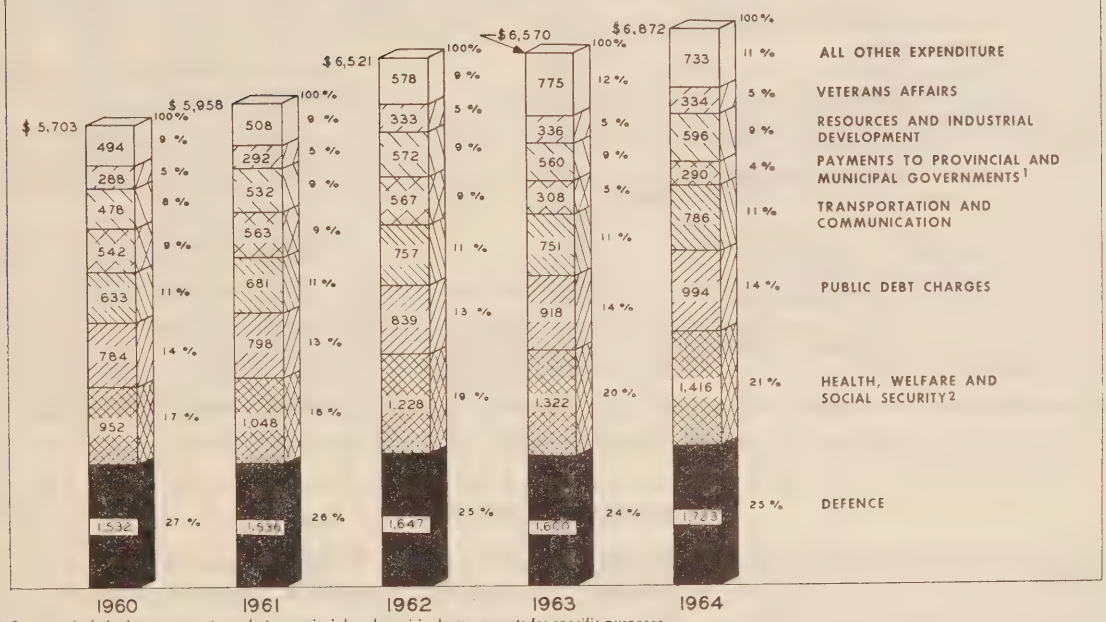
1. The unshaded areas of the columns in the chart for health, welfare and social security represent pension payments out of old age security fund not charged to budgetary expenditures in the year in which they were paid.

2. Does not include those payments made to provincial and municipal governments for specific purposes.



As statements of accountability to Parliament, it is appropriate that the expenditures should be reported on the basis of the classifications adopted in the Appropriation Acts and the Estimates, so in the accounting statements in subsequent sections of this report and in the analysis of the year's expenditures later in this section of the survey these are the classifications that have been followed. However, analyses of expenditures by function or purpose on the one hand, and by object or type of goods or service received on the other, supplement the information contained in statements of expenditures by departmental or administrative units. In the preceding table a classification of expenditure by major function or purpose is presented. For purposes of comparison, expenditure for the four preceding years have been compiled on the same basis.

In the following table a comparative summary of budgetary expenditure by standard objects is presented for the fiscal years 1963–64 and 1962–63. A summarized statement of the 1963–64 expenditure by standard objects and special categories as set out in the estimates and classified by departments is presented in section 8 of this volume

DEFENCE EXPENDITURE

Expenditure of the Department of National Defence and defence expenditure of the Department of Defence Production were again the largest category of budgetary expenditure. The total of $1,723 million for 1963–64 was approximately 25 per cent of the aggregate budgetary expenditure of the government for the year and $123 million more than the total of $1,600 million for 1962–63 when it was 24 per cent of total expenditure.

National Defence

Expenditures of the Department of National Defence were $1,683 million compared with $1,571 million in the previous year. The increase of $112 million was due mainly to a special contribution of $77 million to the Canadian forces superannuation account.

Naval, army and air services

Expenditures for naval services were $298 million in 1963–64 compared with $270 million in 1962–63, for army services they were $453 million compared with $443 million and for air services they were $701 million compared with $714 million.

In 1963–64 operation and maintenance costs for the three services totalled $1,169 million and consisted of $217 million for the navy, $395 million for the army and $557 million for the air force. In 1962–63 total costs were $1,167 million and consisted of $209 million for the navy, $387 million for the army and $521 million for the air force.

Outlays for acquisition and construction of buildings and works, including land and major procurement of equipment totalled $283 million of which $81 million was for the navy, $58 million for the army and $144 million was for the air force. In 1962–63 total outlays were $310 million of which $61 million was for the navy, $56 million for the army and $193 million for the air force.

Inspection services

These services include the inspection and proof of stores and equipment procured for the armed services of Canada (with the exception of aircraft and engines the inspection of which is the responsibility of the R.C.A.F.) and stores and equipment manufactured in Canada for the armed forces of the United States of America and other countries under specific arrangements or agreements.

Expenditures of $7 million in 1963–64 were almost entirely due to operation and maintenance with a small amount for construction or acquisition. Expenditures in 1962–63 were also $7 million.

Government's contribution to the Canadian forces superannuation account

The government's contribution to the Canadian forces superannuation account on the basis of $1\frac{2}{3}$ times the contributions of permanent services personnel amounted to $60 million compared with $58 million in 1962–63. There was also a special contribution of $77 million by the government to provide for additional liabilities in the Canadian forces superannuation account resulting from increased rates of pay. Further details of the superannuation account may be found in sections 4 and 7 of this volume under the liability category "Annuity, insurance and pension accounts".

Defence research and development

These expenditures totalled $46 million in 1963–64 compared with $41 million in 1962–63.

Costs of operation and maintenance of the defence research board were $25 million and for construction or acquisition of buildings, works, land and equipment were $5 million in 1963–64 approximately the same as in 1962–63. In addition there were expenditures in 1963–64 of $12 million for development on behalf of the armed forces, $3 million to foster defence research in Canadian industry by supporting applied research programs and $1 million for the research satellite program. Comparable amounts in 1962–63 were $10 million for development and $1 million to foster defence industrial research.

Mutual aid to NATO countries

Direct charges of $29 million for aid consisted of $14 million for procurement of equipment for mutual aid and $15 million for Canada's share of NATO military budgets and infrastructure costs. In 1962–63 direct charges were $25 million of which $11 million was for procurement of equipment and $14 million for Canada's share of NATO costs.

Administration and general

These expenditures totalled $14 million and included $8 million in payments under Part I–IV of the Defence Services Pension Continuation Act, $3 million in salaries in respect of departmental administration and $2 million as a contribution to the Town of Oromocto, N.B. for municipal services, including the maintenance and operation of schools and to promote the development of the town. Expenditures in 1962–63 were approximately in the same amounts.

Certain expenditures of the Emergency Measures Organization which in previous years were included in the expenditures of the Department of National Defence are now included in the expenditures of the Emergency Measures Organization under "All Other Departments". For the purposes of comparison, the 1962–63 expenditures have been transferred from the Department of National Defence to the Emergency Measures Organization.

Defence Production

Defence expenditures for the Department of Defence Production, including those of the two Crown companies, Defence Construction (1951) Limited and Canadian Arsenals Limited, amounted to $40 million in 1963–64 compared with $29 million in 1962–63.

Technological capability

Outlays of $19 million in 1963–64 in connection with the government program instituted in 1959–60 of supporting selected defence development programs in order to sustain technological capability in Canada's industry were $11 million greater than the 1962–63 outlay.

Canadian Arsenals Limited

Payments to Canadian Arsenals Limited in 1963–64 were $5 million, approximately the same as in 1962–63. These payments were mainly to cover the excess of operation and maintenance costs over income which in both 1963–64 and 1962–63 was $4 million. The remainder of the payments covered costs of construction, improvements and equipment.

Defence Construction (1951) Limited

Costs incurred by the company in procuring the construction of defence projects on behalf of the Department of National Defence and other projects approved by Treasury Board totalled $2 million in 1963–64 compared with $3 million in 1962–63.

Production capacity and capital assistance

Expenditures of $1 million were made in 1963–64 to establish production capacity in certain manufacturing plants in order that they may be geared to fill defence contracts without undue delay and also to supply capital assistance for the acquisition, extension or improvement of necessary equipment by private contractors, Crown plants or Crown companies engaged in defence contracts. In 1962–63 expenditures were approximately the same as in 1963–64.

Administration and general

Included in these expenditures were $11 million for departmental administration (of which $9 million was for salaries) and $1 million for costs of care, maintenance and custody of stand-by defence plants.

Certain expenditures in respect of the small business branch, which in previous years were included in the expenditures of the Department of Trade and Commerce, are now included in the expenditures of the Department of Defence Production. For purposes of comparison, the 1962–63 expenditures have been transferred from the Department of Trade and Commerce to the Department of Defence Production.

Cash outlays for defence

In addition to these budgetary expenditures for defence, there are other cash outlays which must be considered in arriving at the cost of Canada's defence program.

Section 11 of the National Defence Act provides that materiel, not immediately required for the use of the Canadian defence forces or the Defence Research Board, may be sold to such countries and upon such terms as the Governor in Council may determine. The proceeds of such sales are credited to a special account to be used for the procurement of materiel. In 1963–64 credits to, and cash outlays from, the account were each less than $500 thousand. The balance in the account at March 31, 1964 was $1 million, approximately the same as at the previous fiscal year-end.

The Department of Defence Production also makes cash disbursements for the procurement of materials for use in the manufacture of defence equipment which are not recorded as budgetary expenditures. For purposes of accounting and control, these amounts are charged to the defence production revolving fund and are treated as assets on the books of the government until they are charged to the Department of National Defence or sold to defence contractors for use in the manufacture of defence equipment. During 1963–64 proceeds from sales of $79 million exceeded purchases of $68 million by $11 million resulting in a balance of $28 million in the account at March 31, 1964.

NON-DEFENCE EXPENDITURE

Agriculture

Expenditures of the Department of Agriculture amounted to $226 million in 1963–64, an increase of $42 million over the 1962–63 total, due principally to a higher net operating loss of the agricultural stabilization board.

Expenditures under the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act, the Maritime Marshland Rehabilitation Act and in respect of the administration of the program for freight assistance and grain storage costs on western feed grains, which in previous years were included in the expenditures of the Department of Agriculture, are now included in expenditures of the Department of Forestry. Expenditures of the Canadian Wheat Board, which in previous years were included in the expenditures of the Department of Agriculture, are now included in the expenditures of the Department of Trade and Commerce. For purposes of comparison, previous year's figures have been adjusted accordingly.

Agricultural stabilization board

The Agricultural Stabilization Act directs that, at the end of each fiscal year, the Minister of Finance shall determine the net profit or loss on the operations of the board and if there is a net loss it shall be charged to a parliamentary appropriation. In 1963–64 there was a net loss of $125 million, of which $122 million was charged to budgetary expenditure, compared with a net loss of $72 million in 1962–63. The higher operating loss in 1963–64 included an inventory adjustment of $51 million due to revaluation.

Production and marketing

Expenditures of the health of animals division were $13 million and included $11 million for operation and maintenance costs and $2 million for compensation for animals slaughtered due to disease. Comparable amounts in 1962–63 were approximately the same.

Expenditures of the live stock division totalled $13 million and included premiums of $8 million for high grade hog and lamb carcasses and grants of $1 million to agricultural fairs, exhibitions and organizations. Comparable amounts in 1962–63 were $11 million, $6 million and $1 million respectively.

Other expenditures totalled $12 million and included $4 million for the plant products division, $2 million for the dairy products division, $1 million for the plant protection division and $1 million for the poultry division. In 1962–63 other expenditures totalled $14 million and included $5 million for the plant products division, $2 million for the dairy products division, $1 million for the plant protection division and $1 million for the poultry division.

Research

Costs in respect of research institutes, experimental farms, laboratories, etc. totalled $28 million of which $22 million was for operation and maintenance and $4 million was for acquisition and construction. In 1962–63 comparable amounts were $27 million, $22 million and $3 million.

Rehabilitation and reclamation

Expenditures of $24 million in 1963–64 were $4 million less than in 1962–63. The largest portion of the expenditures in 1963–64 was $12 million in respect of the South Saskatchewan River project which in 1962–63 accounted for $15 million of the total.

Board of grain commissioners

Expenditures of $7 million in respect of the board included $5 million for inspection and weighing of grain and $2 million for the operation and maintenance of Canadian government elevators. In 1962–63 comparable amounts were $6 million, $5 million and $1 million.

Prairie farm emergency fund

The Prairie Farm Assistance Act provides for a levy of one per cent to be deducted by all licensed purchasers of grain, the amount so deducted to be transferred to the board of grain commissioners for deposit to the credit of the prairie farm emergency fund. Awards are made under the provisions of the act to farmers in the spring wheat area in accordance with crop failure conditions provided for in the act and are payable from this fund. The act also provides for advances by the Minister of Finance to the fund to cover the year's deficit. Advances of $1 million in 1963–64, representing the deficit in the fund, have been charged to budgetary expenditure in accordance with Department of Agriculture vote 175e. The comparable amount in 1962–63 was $7 million.

Farm Credit Corporation

The Farm Credit Act provides that the objects and purposes of the corporation are to make and to administer and supervise farm loans as provided in the act.

During the year the corporation had a net operating loss of $1 million which was charged to budgetary expenditure under parliamentary authority. In 1962–63 there was net loss of $1 million which was charged to the corporation's "Reserve for losses" account.

Agricultural products board

The Agricultural Products Board Act provides that the board may with the authority of the Governor in Council: (a) sell or deliver agricultural products to the government of any country or any agency thereof; (b) purchase or negotiate contracts for the purchase of agricultural products on behalf of the government of any country or agency thereof; (c) buy, sell or import agricultural products; and (d) store, transport or process, or enter into contracts for the storing, transportation or processing of agricultural products. It also provides for the establishment in the consolidated revenue fund of the agricultural products board account in which all financial transactions as provided above are recorded.

During 1963–64 there was a net operating loss of $1 million in the account which was charged to budgetary expenditure under parliamentary authority. In 1962–63 there was a net operating loss of approximately the same amount.

Atomic Energy

Expenditures of the Atomic Energy of Canada Limited and the Atomic Energy Control Board were $46 million, a decrease of $17 million from the 1962–63 total due mainly to the fact that in 1963–64 there was no charge comparable to the authorized write-off of $25 million in 1962–63 in respect of the undepreciated capital cost of the NRU reactor.

Atomic Energy of Canada Limited received $45 million in respect of the research program from the Government of Canada, of which $31 million was for operation and maintenance and $14 million for construction or acquisition. In 1962-63 the company received $37 million of which $29 million was for operation and maintenance and $8 million for construction or acquisition.

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation

In 1963–64 budgetary expenditures of the government in respect of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation in the amount of $14 million were $5 million more than the total of $9 million in 1962–63 due mainly to an increase of $4 million in loans forgiven by the corporation.

The write-off in 1962–63 was $2 million. Contributions of $4 million to municipalities to assist in the clearance, replanning, rehabilitation and modernization of blighted or sub-standard areas were approximately the same as in 1962–63. Losses of $2 million were sustained by the corporation during the year, of which $1 million was the result of the operation of federal-provincial projects and $1 million was on the sale of mortgages. The corporation was reimbursed for these losses and the amounts charged to budgetary expenditures.

Citizenship and Immigration

Expenditures of the Department of Citizenship and Immigration (which includes Indian affairs) amounted to $71 million compared with $66 million in 1962–63. Of the increase of $5 million, $4 million was in respect of Indian affairs and $1 million in respect of immigration.

Expenditures for education totalled $31 million of which $9 million was for the operation and maintenance of day and residential schools and $6 million for tuition and maintenance in non-Indian schools and $5 million was for construction of schools.

Expenditures for welfare were $14 million of which $6 million was for food, fuel, clothing and other supplies, $3 million was cash payments, $2 million was for construction of new houses and $2 million was for care of indigent Indians including maintenance of juvenile delinquents.

Indian agencies expenditures of $6 million were mainly for cost of administration of regional offices and Indian agencies throughout Canada.

In the economic development field there were expenditures of $4 million of which $1 million was for a program of community employment projects to be carried out on Indian reserves.

Immigration

The main expenditures in respect of immigration were $7 million for field and inspectional services in Canada, $3 million for their services abroad and $2 million to cover trans-oceanic and inland transportation and other assistance for immigrants including care en route and while awaiting employment.

Expenditures in respect of the immigration primary examination function, which in previous years were included in the expenditures of the Department of Citizenship and Immigration, are now included in expenditures of the Department of National Revenue. For purposes of comparison the 1962–63 expenditures have been transferred from the Department of Citizenship and Immigration to the Department of National Revenue.

External Affairs

Expenditures of the Department of External Affairs amounted to $97 million, $12 million more than the 1962–63 total.

External aid office

The main item in outlays of the external aid office was a grant of $42 million to the colombo plan fund. This amount was charged to budgetary expenditures and credited to the fund. A statement of the transactions in the fund for the fiscal year 1963–64 is shown as an appendix to section 14 of Volume II of this report. Assistance to other countries of $6 million was $2 million more than in 1962–63 due to increases of $1 million each to the commonwealth Caribbean assistance program and to the special commonwealth Africa aid program.

Representation abroad

Outlays for representation abroad of $16 million were $2 million higher than in the previous year. Costs of operation were $14 million compared with $13 million and costs of construction, acquisition or improvements of buildings, etc. were $2 million compared with $1 million.

Contributions to other international economic and special aid programs

These contributions totalled $10 million compared with $8 million in 1962–63. Contributions to multilateral economic aid programs amounted to $5 million for each year. Contribution to special aid programs amounted to $5 million in 1963–64, $2 million more than in 1962–63. The increase was due to a contribution of $1 million to India representing 500 tons of electrolytic nickel and a contribution of $1 million to Greece representing surplus Canadian food products to assist in meeting special defence requirements.

Other payments to international organizations and programs

These payments totalled $12 million compared with $7 million in 1962–63. Assessments for membership in international organizations amounted to $9 million, $2 million more than in 1962–63. The increase was due to an assessment of $2 million for the organization of economic co-operation and development for which there was no expenditure in 1962 63. Other payments amounted to $4 million compared with $1 million in 1962–63. The increase of $3 million was due mainly to assessments of $1 million for the united nations Congo ad hoc account and $1 million for the united nations emergency force for which there were no expenditures in 1962–63.

Finance

Expenditures of the Department of Finance in 1963–64 were $1,406 million, $52 million higher than 1962–63 expenditures. Public debt charges were $76 million higher while payments to provinces were $21 million less.

Expenditures in respect of the Canadian Corporation for the 1967 World Exhibition which in previous years were included in the expenditures of the Department of Finance are now included in the expenditures of the Department of Trade and Commerce. For purposes of comparison, the 1962–63 expenditures have been transferred from the Department of Finance to the Department of Trade and Commerce.

Public debt charges

Public debt charges were again the third largest item of total budgetary expenditure, exceeded only by those for defence and those for health, welfare and social security.

Public debt charges consist of interest on public debt, the annual amortization of bond discounts and commissions, the cost of issuing new loans, and other costs incurred in servicing the public debt. In 1963-64 these totalled $994 million and were 14 per cent of all budgetary expenditure compared with $918 million or 14 per cent in 1962–63.

The increase of $53 million in interest on unmatured debt reflects an increase in unmatured debt. The increase of $20 million in interest on other liabilities reflects increases of $5 million in respect of the Canadian forces superannuation account and $5 million in respect of the public service superannuation account due to normal growth in these accounts plus a further increase of $8 million in respect of the Canadian forces superannuation account due to an adjustment of $199 million made in 1962–63 to bring the balance in the account into line with an actuarial valuation as at December 31, 1960 as calculated by the Department of Insurance.

(1)No interest is payable on a portion of these amounts. Interest was paid on $102.6 million in 1959-60; $100.7 million in 1960–61; $88.2 million in 1962–63; and $89 million in 1963–64.

(2)No interest is payable on a portion of these amounts. Interest was paid on $3,480.2 million in 1959–60; $3,873.6 million in 1960–61; $4,162.2 million in 1961–62; $4,664.3 million in 1962–63; and $5,044.7 million in 1963–64.

Other public debt charges at $39 million were $3 million more than in 1962–63.

When considering the magnitude of these public debt charges and the burden they place upon the public treasury, it must be borne in mind that a substantial portion of the debt is attributable to, or is invested in, productive or earning assets. Therefore, in calculating the net burden of the government's annual interest charges, the income derived from loans, investments and other productive assets must be taken into account. For 1963–64 this income totalled $366 million as shown in the non-tax revenue section under the heading "Return on investments". This amount deducted from the gross total of $954 million for interest as shown in the above table leaves a net amount of $588 million compared with a net of $570 million in 1962–63. Measured as a percentage of the net debt the burden of the net annual interest charges was 3.90 per cent in 1963–64 compared with 4.09 percent in 1962–63. As a percentage of the gross national product for the calendar year ending within the fiscal year, the relative burden was 1.37 per cent compared with 1.41 per cent in 1962–63.

The following table presents the gross interest charges, the return on investments, the net interest charges, the net debt and the net interest as a percentage of the net debt for the fiscal years ended March 31, 1960 to 1964 inclusive:

Fiscal, tax-sharing, subsidy and other payments to provinces

Budgetary expenditures were charged with $254 million in 1963–64 for payments to the provinces covering statutory subsidies, payments under federal-provincial fiscal arrangements and the transfer of certain public utility tax receipts. In 1962–63 comparable charges were $275 million.

However, in addition to the above payments, $384 million in provincial income taxes collected by the federal government on behalf of the provinces under new tax arrangements were remitted to the provinces in 1963–64 compared with $368 million in 1962–63. A more detailed explanation of these arrangements is given under tax revenue in this section.

(1)Less than $50,000.

The amount of public utility tax receipts for transfer to provinces in 1963–64 was $10 million, approximately the same as in 1962–63. Payments in 1963–64 represent the transferable portion of the income tax received from corporations whose main business was the distribution to, or generation for distribution to, the public of electrical energy, gas and steam for the taxation years 1960 and 1961.

Government's contribution to the public service superannuation account

The government's contribution to this account in an amount equal to the estimated current and prior service payments of individuals in 1962–63 was $54 million in 1963–64. In 1962–63 the government's contribution was $51 million.

Grants to municipalities

Payments to municipalities in lieu of taxes on federal property are made in accordance with the Municipal Grants Act and regulations made thereunder. These totalled $31 million in 1963–64 compared with $29 million in 1962–63.

Grants to universities

Payments made in 1963–64 to the Canadian Universities Foundation for the purpose of making grants to universities of higher learning totalled $27 million, an increase of $1 million over the 1962–63 total.

Office of the Comptroller of the Treasury

Expenditures of $24 million were made to defray the expenses of the Comptroller of the Treasury in carrying out the duties imposed by the Financial Administration Act, including the issue of public moneys from the consolidated revenue fund, the provision of accounting services for government departments, and other duties assigned by the Governor in Council. In 1962–63 comparable expenditures were $23 million.

During the year the Comptroller of the Treasury took over the administration of the superannuation branch.

Premium, discount and exchange

An account is maintained during the year in which are recorded premiums and discounts on purchases and sales of foreign currencies and gold and year-end revaluations on asset and liability accounts.

During 1963–64 these transactions resulted in a credit balance of $200 thousand which has been recorded as a non-tax revenue receipt. In 1962–63 there was a debit balance of $9 million due to an adjustment of $10 million which resulted from a revaluation of the government's outstanding debt payable in New York and London at official parity rates of $1 U.S. = $1.08108 Canadian and £1 = $3.027 Canadian rather than at former rates of $1 U.S. = $1 Canadian and £1 = $2.80 Canadian.

Fisheries

Expenditures of the Department of Fisheries totalled $24 million, approximately the same as in 1962–63.

Conservation and development service

These expenditures, which totalled $8 million in 1963–64, were in connection with the enforcement of fisheries laws and regulations, maintaining and increasing stocks of fish through stream improvements, predator control and operation of fish hatcheries.

Fisheries Research Board of Canada

The Fisheries Research Board of Canada was established by the Fisheries Research Act to have charge of all federal fishery research stations in Canada and to conduct and have the control of investigations of practical and economic problems connected with marine and fresh water fisheries, flora and fauna. Expenditures in 1963–64 were $6 million, a decrease of $1 million from the 1962–63 total.

Inspection service

Expenditure for this service totalled $2 million in 1963–64 and was in respect of the inspection and grading of fisheries products and the administration of the Fish Inspection Act and the Meat and Canned Foods Act to the extent that it relates to fisheries products.

Newfoundland bait service

This service is maintained in order that supplies of bait are available for fishermen engaged in cod and other sea fisheries. During 1963-64 the service comprised 20 depots and 28 walk-in refrigeration units in which bait is frozen, stored and resold to fishermen. Expenditures were $2 million compared with $1 million in 1962–63.

Administration and general

Included in these expenditures were the costs of the information and consumer service, the industrial development service, the economic service and the fishing bounty under the Deep Sea Fisheries Act. Under authority of this act an annual grant not exceeding $160 thousand may be made to aid in the development of the sea fisheries of Canada by the encouragement of the building and fitting out of improved fishing vessels and the improvement of conditions for fishermen. During the year payments of $1 per boat were made to owners of 5,034 boats, $1 per registered ton to owners of 1,248 vessels and $9.95 each to 12,704 fishermen.

Forestry

Expenditures for the Department of Forestry totalled $42 million, an increase of $10 million over the 1962–63 total.

Expenditures under the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act, the Maritime Marshland Rehabilitation Act and in respect of the administration of the program respecting freight assistance and grain storage costs on western feed grains, which in previous years were included in the expenditures of the Department of Agriculture, are now included in expenditures of the Department of Forestry. For purposes of comparison the 1962–63 expenditures have been transferred from the Department of Agriculture to the Department of Forestry.

Freight assistance and grain storage costs on western feed grains

The policy of payments of freight assistance at specified rates on western feed grains shipped to Eastern Canada and British Columbia as feed for livestock and poultry was made to insure that feeders of livestock and poultry would receive the full benefit of the subsidy in prices paid for feed. Expenditures were $19 million in 1963–64, $4 million more than in 1962–63.

Contributions to provinces

These contributions, pursuant to agreements entered into with the approval of the Governor in Council, totalled $8 million in 1963–64 and included $4 million in respect of forest access road construction, $1 million in respect of forest inventory, $1 million in reforestation and $2 million in respect of forest fire protection. Contributions in 1962–63 were approximately in the same amounts.

Forest entomology and pathology

Expenditures of $6 million for forest entomology and pathology covered the costs in conducting comprehensive forest insect and disease research and surveys throughout Canada so that timber losses due to insects and disease might be reduced. Expenditures in 1962–63 were $4 million.

Forest research

Costs amounting to $2 million in connection with the conduct of forest research in Canada included studies of forest inventory methods, protection against fire, and tree breeding and were approximately in the same amount as in 1962–63.

Forest products research

Included in these expenditures are the costs of operating two forest products laboratories located at Ottawa and Vancouver where research is conducted on the properties of Canadian woods and the development of new and improved uses of wood and better utilization of Canada's forest products. Both 1963–64 and 1962–63 expenditures were $1 million.

Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act

The Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act, c. 13, 1961, authorized the Minister of Agriculture, with the approval of the Governor in Council, to enter into agreements with the provinces providing for the undertaking jointly with the government of the province of projects for the alternative uses of land, rural development of income and employment opportunities and soil and water conservation, and for the payment to the provinces of contributions in respect of the cost of such projects. This power was transferred to the Minister of Forestry pursuant to the Public Service Rearrangement and Transfer of Duties Act and by P.C. 1964–360 dated March 5, 1964. Outlays were $4 million in 1963–64 compared with $1 million in 1962–63.

Justice

Expenditures of the Department of Justice including those for penitentiaries amounted to $41 million in 1963–64 compared with $37 million in 1962–63.

Expenditures in respect of patents, copyrights and trademarks, which in previous years were included in expenditures of the Department of the Secretary of State, are now included in expenditures of the Department of Justice. For purposes of comparison the 1962–63 expenditures have been transferred from the Department of the Secretary of State to the Department of Justice.

Judges' salaries and travelling allowances

Judges' salaries and travelling allowances were $7 million, $1 million more than in 1962–63 due mainly to increased salary rates.

Penitentiaries

Outlays of $27 million for penitentiaries included $20 million for operation and maintenance and $6 million for construction, improvements and equipment. Comparable amounts in 1962–63 were $25 million, $20 million and $4 million.

Labour

Expenditures for the Department of Labour including the Unemployment Insurance Commission totalled $280 million in 1963–64, a decrease of $68 million from the previous year, due mainly to lower payments to provinces under the Technical and Vocational Training Assistance Act.

Expenditures of the management training function of the small business branch which were formerly reported under the Department of Trade and Commerce are now reported under the Department of Labour. For purposes of comparison the 1962–63 expenditures are also reported under the Department of Labour.

Technical and Vocational Training Assistance Act

The Technical and Vocational Training Assistance Act, which superseded the Vocational Training Co-ordination Act, received Royal Assent on December 20, 1960. Under the act the Minister may, with the approval of the Governor in Council, enter into an agreement with any province, for a period not exceeding six years, to provide financial assistance for the development and operation of technical and vocational training facilities and programs. Under an amendment to the act that received Royal Assent on December 5, 1963, agreements provide, among other things, for a federal contribution of 75 per cent of capital expenditure incurred by the province on training facilities before such date as may be specified in an agreement, and not later than March 31, 1967, up to an amount equal to $480 for each person in the 15–19 (inclusive) age group residing in the province as determined by the 1961 census.

Federal contributions were $136 million in 1963–64 compared to $208 million in 1962–63.

A summary of payments, by provinces, during 1963–64 is given in the following table:

Municipal winter works

Payments under the municipal winter works incentive program to provinces and in respect of Indian bands totalled $27 million, approximately the same as in 1962–63. Under this program the federal government contributes amounts not exceeding 50 per cent of the cost of labour engaged on approved winter work projects and in the case of projects in designated development areas and as authorized by the Minister of Labour in areas of heavy winter unemployment 60 per cent of such cost.

Payments under the Government Employees Compensation Act

The Government Employees Compensation Act, c. 134, R.S., as amended, provides that an employee who is caused personal injury by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment or is disabled by reason of an industrial disease due to the nature of his employment and the dependents of an employee whose death results from such an accident or industrial disease are entitled to receive compensation at the same rate as is provided under the law of the province in which the accident occurred or industrial disease was contracted. The claims of employees eligible for compensation are dealt with and paid by provincial workmen's compensation boards from funds advanced by the federal government. Compensation payments in 1963–64 were $2 million, approximately the same as in the previous fiscal year.

Winter house building program

Under the winter house building program payments may be made, in accordance with terms and conditions approved by the Governor in Council, during the fiscal years 1963–64 and 1964–65, of $500 per dwelling unit substantially built during the period December 1, 1963 to March 31, 1964. As most of the houses would not have been completed until shortly before March 31, 1964 expenditures in 1963–64 were less than $100 thousand.

Unemployment Insurance Commission

Expenditures for the commission in 1963–64 were $108 million, of which $59 million was the government's contribution to the unemployment insurance fund and $49 million was for administration and general costs.

Unemployment insurance benefit payments are not charged to budgetary expenditures but are paid from the fund which is financed by equal contributions from employees and employers, by interest earned on investments, and by the government's contribution of an amount equal to one-fifth of the combined employee-employer contributions. Further information in regard to the fund is given under the liability category "Annuity, insurance and pension accounts" in sections 4 and 7 of this volume.

Legislation

Costs of Legislation were $13 million in 1963–64, an increase of $5 million over the 1962–63 expenditures. The increase was due mainly to increases in indemnities and expense allowances to Members of the House of Commons and to Members of the Senate.

Dominion Coal Board

This board was constituted under the authority of the Dominion Coal Board Act c. 86, R.S. and is empowered to study, review, and recommend to the Minister, from time to time, such policies and measures it considers necessary respecting the production, importation, distribution and use of coal in Canada. The main expenditures in 1963–64 were $19 million in freight subventions in connection with the movement of coal under certain conditions and subventions of $2 million in respect of eastern coal under agreements entered into pursuant to the Atlantic Provinces Power Development Act. Comparable expenditures in 1962–63 were approximately in the same amounts.

Emergency gold mining assistance

In order to prevent the closing of mines due to increasing cost of equipment, supplies and labour, and thus avoid the resultant hardships on dependent communities, the Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Act was assented to on May 14, 1948 with payments thereunder effective from January 1, 1948. The amount of assistance payable to the operator of a gold mine under the provisions of the act is calculated by a formula based on certain terms and conditions in the act. During 1963–64 assistance payments amounted to $15 million, approximately the same as in 1962–63. From the inception of the act to the end of 1963–64, 234 gold mine operators have received assistance totalling $188 million.

Surveys and mapping

Included in these expenditures of $6 million for 1963–64 were $2 million for topographical surveys, $2 million for map compilation and reproduction, $1 million for legal surveys and aeronautical charts and $1 million in respect of the Geodetic Survey of Canada. Comparable expenditures in 1962–63 were approximately the same.

Marine sciences

Expenditures of $7 million in 1963–64 included $6 million for administration, operation and maintenance and $1 million for construction or acquisition of buildings, works, land or equipment. In 1962–63 expenditures were $11 million, $5 million and $6 million, respectively.

Geological survey of Canada

Expenditures of $7 million in 1963–64 were approximately the same as in 1962–63 and consisted mainly of outlays on field surveys and laboratory records.

Mines

Expenditures of $5 million in 1963–64 were approximately the same amount as in 1962–63 and consisted mainly of outlays for laboratory research.

Administration and general

Included in these expenditures were $2 million in respect of the Dominion Observatories, $2 million in respect of the Polar Continental Shelf and $1 million for departmental administration, approximately the same as in 1962–63.

National Health and Welfare

Outlays for the Department of National Health and Welfare were $1,204 million, $81 million higher than in 1962–63 due mainly to increases of $55 million in government contributions under the Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act, $11 million in unemployment assistance and $7 million in family allowances payments.

Certain expenditures in respect of civil defence which in previous years were included in the expenditures of the Department of National Health and Welfare are now included in the expenditures of the Emergency Measures Organization under "All Other Departments". For the purposes of comparison, the 1962–63 expenditures have been transferred from the Department of National Health and Welfare to the Emergency Measures Organization.

Government's contributions under the Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act

The Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act, Statutes of 1957, authorizes the Minister to enter into an agreement with any province to provide contributions by Canada in respect of programs administered by the provinces providing hospital insurance and laboratory and other services in aid of diagnosis. Contributions in 1963–64 totalled $392 million. This was $55 million more than the previous year's total due to increased cost to hospitals of insured services and an increase in the number of insured persons.

General health grants and hospital construction grants to provinces

During the fiscal year 1948–49 the federal government instituted the policy of grants to the provinces for general health services and control of diseases and assistance in construction of hospitals. General health grants totalled $31 million in 1963–64 compared with $30 million in 1962–63 and construction grants totalled $22 million compared with $20 million. Since the inception of these grants, general health grants totalled $351 million and grants for assistance in construction of hospitals totalled $195 million.

Family allowances

Family allowances are payable in respect of all children under sixteen years of age, resident in Canada, with minor exceptions such as in the case of children of immigrants who must reside in Canada one year before an allowance is payable. The monthly allowance is $6 if the child is under 10 years and $8 in the age group 10 to 15. Children of immigrants receive family assistance at the same rates during their first year of residence in Canada from appropriations of the Department of Citizenship and Immigration.

In 1963–64 payments of $538 million accounted for 8 per cent of all budgetary expenditure compared with $531 million and 8 per cent in 1962–63. The increase of $7 million reflects the increase in the number of children in the eligible age groups.

Since inception of family allowances payments in 1945–46, $7,211 million has been expended for this purpose.

Old age assistance, disabled persons allowances, blind persons allowances and unemployment assistance

Under the Old Age Assistance Act, the federal government reimburses the provinces by paying 50 per cent of the lesser of $75 monthly or the amount of assistance given by the provinces in the form of monthly pensions to eligible persons in need who are in the age group 65 to 69. (Under the Old Age Security Act, all persons 70 years and over who satisfy the residence requirements of the act may receive a pension of $75 per month from the federal government out of the old age security fund.) Similarly, the federal government reimburses the provinces under the Blind Persons Act for allowances of not more than $75 per month to blind persons in need 18 years of age or over by paying 75 per cent of the total payments, and under the Disabled Persons Act by paying 50 per cent of not more than $75 per month for allowances to disabled persons in need 18 years of age or over. In 1963–64 payments for old age assistance were $39 million, for disabled persons allowances, $20 million and for blind persons allowances, $5 million compared with $38 million, $20 million and $5 million, respectively, in 1962–63.

Amendments to the Old Age Assistance Act, the Blind Persons Act and the Disabled Persons Act raised the maximum pension, towards which the federal government would contribute, from $65 to $75 per month, effective December 1, 1963. A similar increase was authorized in old age security payments, effective October 1, 1963, through an amendment to the Old Age Security Act.

Under the Unemployment Assistance Act, the Minister may with the approval of the Governor in Council, enter into an agreement with any province for the payment by Canada to the province of contributions not exceeding 50 per cent of unemployment assistance costs in the province. All provinces have signed agreements with the federal government. Contributions in 1963–64 in the amount of $107 million compare with $97 million in 1962–63.

The following table presents a distribution of these payments to provinces for 1963–64:

The other three provinces and the Northwest Territories had not signed amended agreements effective during 1963–64.

Outlays in respect of the collection of income taxes and the estate tax were $41 million of which $37 million was in respect of district offices and $4 million for general administration. Comparable amounts in 1962-63 were $38 million, $34 million and $4 million respectively.

Northern Affairs and National Resources

Expenditures of the Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources amounted to $77 million in 1963–64 compared to $86 million in 1962–63.

Expenditures in respect of the National Museum of Canada, which in previous years were included in expenditures of the Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources, are now included in expenditures of the Department of the Secretary of State under "All Other Departments". For purposes of comparison the 1962–63 expenditures have been transferred from the Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources to the Department of the Secretary of State.

Northern administration

Outlays for this branch totalled $34 million in 1963–64 compared with $42 million in 1962–63. The decrease was due mainly to the fact that there was no comparable expenditure in 1963–64 to a charge of $7 million in 1962–63 to cover a deletion from the government's accounts of certain loans made to the Northern Canada Power Commission under the Northern Canada Power Commission Act for the construction and installation of central heating, water and sewage and fire alarm systems at Inuvik, Northwest Territories.

Costs of the education division were $7 million and of the welfare and industrial division, $4 million, approximately the same as in 1962-63. Expenditures in respect of the Yukon Territory were $5 million, $2 million less than in 1962–63 arising chiefly from contract delays on construction. Expenditures in respect of the Northwest Territories were $17 million, $1 million higher than in 1962–63, due to an increase in operation and maintenance costs.

National parks

Total costs of this branch were $23 million in 1963–64 compared with $26 million in 1962–63.

Expenditures for national parks, historic sites and monuments were $21 million, $3 million less than in 1962–63 due chiefly to a decrease in construction from delays in land and contract negotiations and to weather conditions.

Water resources

Expenditures of the water resources branch were $10 million in 1963–64 compared to $5 million in 1962–63 due mainly to an increase of $5 million in contributions to the provinces towards the construction of dams and other works to assist in the conservation and control of water resources in accordance with agreements entered into between Canada and the provinces. Contributions to the provinces in 1963–64 were $8 million compared with $3 million in the previous fiscal year.

Development of roads leading to resources

Contributions to provinces to assist in the development of roads leading to resources totalled $8 million compared with $10 million in 1962-63.

Post Office

Costs of the Post Office Department charged to budgetary expenditure in 1963–64 were $207 million compared with $189 million in 1962–63.

Costs of operations at $136 million were $16 million higher than in 1962–63 due mainly to salary revisions. Costs of transportation were $66 million or $2 million higher than in 1962–63.

Remuneration of postmasters and staffs at revenue and semi-staff offices and certain other authorized disbursements were paid from revenue. These payments were $35 million ($6 million greater than in 1962–63) bringing gross post office expenditures to $242 million for 1963–64.

As gross post office receipts totalled $236 million (including the $35 million used for authorized disbursements) gross expenditures exceeded gross receipts by $6 million in 1963–64. In 1962–63 gross receipts were $223 million and gross expenditures were $219 million.

However, it is to be noted that post office expenditures do not reflect any payments for premises occupied by the Post Office Department or for certain accounting and miscellaneous services provided by other departments, nor does post office revenue reflect any receipts for the franking privilege covering parliamentary and departmental mail or for certain miscellaneous services provided for other government departments and agencies.

Public Works

Expenditures of the Department of Public Works amounted to $167 million in 1963–64 compared with $163 million in 1962–63. An increase of $10 million in outlays for development engineering services was partly offset by a decrease of $7 million for harbours and rivers engineering services.

Public buildings—construction and services

Outlays for maintenance and operation of public buildings were $46 million of which $19 million was in respect of Ottawa and $27 million in respect of other centres. Comparable figures for 1962–63 were $44 million, $17 million and $27 million respectively. Included in the 1963–64 expenditures at Ottawa were $3 million for rentals of space occupied by government services and $2 million for municipal and public utility services while the expenditures in respect of other centres were $4 million and $4 million respectively.

Costs of acquisition, construction and improvements of public buildings were $23 million of which $11 million was in respect of Ottawa and $12 million in respect of other centres in Canada. In 1962–63 comparable figures were $23 million, $10 million and $13 million, respectively.

Furniture and furnishings cost $2 million of which $1 million was at Ottawa and $1 million in respect of other centres.

Development engineering services

Expenditures were $45 million in 1963–64 compared to $35 million in 1962–63. The increase reflects special contributions totalling $10 million to the provinces of Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick to cover up to 90 per cent of the costs to the provinces of construction of the trans-Canada highway as from April 1, 1963.

Contributions to the provinces under the terms of the Trans-Canada Highway Act were $29 million, the same amount as in 1962–63. Construction of the highway through national parks cost $2 million in 1963–64 compared with $4 million in 1962–63.

Other expenses of $4 million were $2 million higher than in 1962–63 due to an increase in Canada's share of the cost of international and interprovincial bridges.

Harbours and rivers engineering services

Expenditures totalled $22 million in 1963–64, $7 million less than in 1962–63. Outlays for acquisition, construction and improvements of harbour and river works were $14 million compared with $21 million and outlays for dredging were $4 million for each year.

National Capital Commission

Expenditures in respect of the National Capital Commission amounted to $12 million in 1963–64 of which $7 million was paid into the national capital fund to be used to finance the cost of capital projects approved by the Governor in Council, $3 million was for the operation of parks, parkways, etc. and $2 million was for interest charges on loans that were made for the purpose of acquiring property in the national capital region. Comparative figures for 1962–63 were $13 million, $9 million, $3 million and $1 million respectively.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police

Expenditures of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police were $67 million in 1963–64, of which $39 million was for pay and allowances to members of the force and $5 million for civilian salaries, wages and allowances. Comparable figures for 1962–63 were $65 million, $39 million and $5 million. Arising from these expenditures were payments received for police services totalling $15 million in 1963–64 which was credited to revenue. In 1962–63, $13 million was received and credited to revenue.

Costs of the land, air and training divisions were $50 million, of which $47 million were for operation and maintenance and $3 million for construction and acquisition of buildings, works, land and equipment. Comparable amounts for 1962–63 were $49 million, $46 million and $3 million.

Outlays of $4 million in respect of pensions and other benefits were mainly for pensions under the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Pension Continuation Act.

Trade and Commerce

Expenditures of the Department of Trade and Commerce at $74 million were $8 million more than the 1962-63 total, due mainly to higher expenditures of the Canadian Wheat Board in respect of carrying costs of temporary wheat reserves.

Expenditures of the Canadian Wheat Board and grants to the Canadian Corporation for the 1967 World Exhibition, which in previous years were included in the expenditures of the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Finance respectively, are now included in expenditures of the Department of Trade and Commerce. Certain expenditures for administrative services, which in previous years were included in the expenditures of the Department of Trade and Commerce are now reported as follows: the small business branch under the Department of Defence Production; the office of the assistant deputy minister (domestic commerce), the industrial promotion branch and the industrial design branch under the Department of Industry; and the management training function of the small business branch under the Department of Labour. Previous year's figures have been amended for purposes of comparison.

Carrying costs of temporary wheat reserves

Under the terms of the Temporary Wheat Reserves Act, c. 2, 1956, the Canadian Wheat Board shall be reimbursed for carrying charges on stocks of wheat exceeding one hundred and seventy-eight million bushels in storage at the commencement of the crop year. Payments in 1963–64 amounted to $40 million of which $10 million represented the balance of payments for the crop year 1962–63 and $30 million represented payments for the crop year 1963–64. Payments in 1962–63 amounted to $35 million of which $16 million represented the balance of payments for the crop year 1961–62 and $19 million represented payments for the crop year 1962–63.

Trade commissioner service

Expenditures of the trade commissioner service in 1963–64 amounted to $6 million and covered the administration and operation of the head office in Ottawa and 69 trade commissioner offices located in 48 countries. In 1962–63 comparable expenditures were also $6 million for approximately the same number of offices and locations.

Canadian government travel bureau

Expenditures of the travel bureau for 1963–64, to assist in promoting the tourist business in Canada, amounted to $4 million, approximately $1 million more than for 1962–63. Included in expenditures for 1963–64 was an amount of $2 million (slightly higher than in the previous fiscal year) to cover advertising in foreign newspapers, magazines and other media.

Standards branch

Expenditures cover the costs of electricity and gas inspections and weights and measures inspections. Although the costs of these services for 1963–64 amounted to $3 million, inspection fees collected and credited to revenue amounted to $2 million. Comparable amounts in 1962–63 were approximately the same.

Transport

Expenditures of the Department of Transport including the Board of Transport Commissioners, Canadian Maritime Commission and National Harbours Board totalled $423 million in 1963–64, an increase of $7 million over 1962–63, due mainly to increases in outlays of $19 million for the Canadian Maritime Commission, $9 million for railways and steamship services and $6 million for marine services partly offset by decreases of $16 million in air services and $5 million in advances to National Harbours Board.

(1) Less than $50,000.

Air services

Outlays for air services were $121 million compared with $137 million in 1962–63. The decrease was due mainly to a reduction in expenditures for construction or acquisition of buildings, works, land and equipment by the civil aviation branch.

Railway and steamship services

Expenditures of $99 million for railway and steamship services were $9 million more than in 1962–63. There was an increase of $9 million in payments in respect of construction of a line of railway to Great Slave Lake. Expenditures in 1963–64 in connection with the Victoria Bridge (for which there was no comparable amount in the previous fiscal year) totalled $7 million, of which $4 million reflected the discontinuance of the collection of tolls and $3 million was for rail diversion. Partly offsetting these increases was a decrease of $6 million in the charge to budgetary expenditure in respect of the deficit of the Canadian National Railways. In 1963–64 $43 million was included in expenditures to cover the 1963 deficit compared with $49 million in 1962–63 to cover the 1962 deficit.

The deficits from operations of three ferry services (Newfoundland $9 million, Prince Edward Island $3 million and Yarmouth, N.S.—Bar Harbour, Maine, U.S.A. less than a million) were approximately the same as in 1962–63.

Board of Transport Commissioners

Expenditures in respect of the board were $82 million compared with $85 million in 1962–63.

Payments under authority of the Freight Rates Reduction Act amounted to less than $50 thousand compared to $21 million in 1962–63. However, interim payments related to the Royal Commission on Railway Problems were $68 million compared to $50 million in 1962–63.

Section 468 of the Railway Act, c. 234, R.S., as amended, provides for payments to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and the Canadian National Railway Company of amounts equal to the annual cost of maintaining the trackage between specified points, in Ontario, on the trans-continental lines of the said railways. During 1963–64 the Canadian Pacific Railway Company received $4 million and the Canadian National Railway Company $3 million, approximately the same as in 1962–63.

Section 265 of the Railway Act, c. 234, R.S., as amended, provides that sums appropriated and set apart to aid actual construction work for the protection, safety and convenience of the public in respect of railway crossings shall be placed to the credit of the railway grade crossing fund. In 1963–64 an amount of $5 million was credited to the account and charged to budgetary expenditure compared with $6 million in 1962–63.

Marine services

Expenditures for marine services amounted to $64 million compared with $58 million in 1962–63. The increase of $6 million was due mainly to increases of $3 million in outlays for the Canadian coast guard and $3 million for the St. Lawrence and Saguenay rivers ship channel services.

Canadian Maritime Commission

Expenditures of the commission increased from $31 million for 1962–63 to $50 million for 1963–64. Capital subsidies for construction of commercial and fishing vessels, which totalled $40 million compared with $23 million in 1962–63, accounted for most of the increase while steamship subventions for coastal services at $9 million were $1 million more than in 1962–63.

National Harbours Board

Non-active advances were less than $1 million for 1963–64 compared to $5 million in 1962–63.

Veterans Affairs

Expenditures of the Department of Veterans Affairs of $334 million were $2 million less than the 1962–63 total.

Canadian Pension Commission

Expenditures in respect of the Canadian Pension Commission were $176 million in 1963–64 compared with $179 million in 1962–63. Pensions for disability or death which constitute the greatest part of these expenditures amounted to $173 million, $3 million less than in 1962–63. Administration and general costs at $3 million were approximately the same as in the previous year.

Shown in the following table are the number of awards in effect at March 31, 1946, 1963 and 1964 and the payments in each of the fiscal years ended on these dates for (a) disability pensions including additional pensions for dependents, and (b) pensions for dependents of deceased eligible persons, arising out of world war 1, world war 2, and miscellaneous service (which includes special force service, civilian world war 2 service, defence forces peace time service, burial grants for deceased pensioners, etc.):

War veterans allowances and other benefits

These payments amounted to $92 million in 1963–64, compared with $90 million in 1962–63. The increase of $2 million was due mainly to an increase in payments made under the War Veterans Allowance Act and the Civilian War Pensions and Allowances Act. Payments under these acts, which amounted in 1963–64 to $83 million compared to $81 million in 1962–63, are made principally to elderly, qualified persons who are incapable of maintaining themselves. Other benefits totalled $9 million and were approximately the same as in the previous year.

Treatment and rehabilitation services

Costs of these services were $51 million in 1963–64, approximately the same as in 1962–63. The largest item in this category was operation of hospitals which amounted to $43 million compared with $42 million in 1962 63. Expenditures for other services, such as welfare and prosthetic services, at $8 million were approximately the same as for the previous year.

Soldier settlement and veterans land acts

Payments in respect of the soldier settlement and veterans land acts (including provisions for reserve for conditional benefits which amounted to $3 million) were $8 million in 1963–64, approximately the same as in the previous year.

All Other Departments

Expenditures of the departments not dealt with individually amounted to $51 million, an increase of $6 million over the total for 1962–63.

ASSET AND LIABILITY ACCOUNTS

The statement of the assets and liabilities of Canada, as certified by the Auditor General, is presented in section 7 of this volume on a comparative basis, showing the balance of each of the principal classifications of accounts at March 31, 1964, the corresponding balance at March 31, 1963, and the increase or decrease during the fiscal year 1963–64. It is followed by explanatory notes and by detailed schedules of the accounts which are also presented on a comparative basis. A description of the structure and more significant features of the statement of assets and liabilities is given in section 1 of this volume.

Summary

The gross liabilities of the government totalled $25,924 million at March 31, 1964, an increase of $1,124 million over the total at March 31, 1963. The main items effecting this increase were increases of $778 million in unmatured debt and $384 million in annuity, insurance and pension accounts.

Net recorded assets totalled $10,854 million at March 31, 1964, a decrease of $26 million from the total at March 31, 1963. The main changes were decreases of $536 million in deferred charges and $135 million in the exchange fund account and increases of $467 million in current assets, $116 million in loans to Crown corporations and $87 million in other loans and investments.

Deposit and trust accounts

Sundry funds deposited with, or held in trust by, the Receiver General of Canada for various purposes are recorded in these accounts.

These funds totalled $197 million at March 31, 1964 compared with $225 million at March 31, 1963, a decrease of $28 million during the year.

The main changes were decreases of $16 million in Crown corporations deposits, $16 million in the Korean operations pool, $9 million in contractors holdbacks, $8 million in the Canadian National Railways account and $5 million in contractors securities, and increases of $15 million in guarantee deposits and $5 million in National Harbours Board special accounts.

Crown corporations deposits

In 1957–58 the Governor in Council, in accordance with section 81(2) of the Financial Administration Act, authorized Crown corporations to deposit in the consolidated revenue fund, with the approval of the appropriate Minister and the Minister of Finance, that portion of their cash which was temporarily in excess of their current requirements. Such deposits to earn interest on minimum monthly balances at a rate determined on the basis of weekly three-month treasury bill yields.

Total deposits were $14 million at March 31, 1964 compared with $30 million at March 31, 1963. The decrease was due to the withdrawal by Atomic Energy of Canada Limited of its deposit of $16 million. These funds were used in part to reduce by $14 million the outstanding capital stock held by the government.

Korean operations pool

This account recorded amounts received from the United Kingdom and other participating governments in respect of the Korean operation pool accounts which were maintained by the Commonwealth of Australia on behalf of the participating countries.

accordance with P.C. 1956–1048 dated July 8, 1956 and in respect of which $5 million was paid in 1959–60, plus interest due on December 31, 1961, December 31, 1962 and December 31, 1963 totalling $47 million which was deferred in accordance with P.C. 1961–1863 dated December 29, 1961, less $2 million paid in 1963–64. A fuller explanation of this account is given under "Loans to, and investments in, Crown corporations".

There was a small increase in deferred interest on loans made to the Northern Canada Power Commission. Advances are made to the commission for various projects in the Yukon Territory and the Northwest Territories and are also made pursuant to the Atlantic Provinces Power Development Act to the Provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Upon completion of a project accrued interest is capitalized and added to the original amount of the advance to be repayable in thirty or forty (as the case may be) equal annual instalments. The interest so capitalized is recorded as deferred interest until such time as payments are received. This is a contra account to amounts included in "Loans to, and investments in, Crown corporations" and "Other loans and investments".

There was no change in deferred interest of $44 million on loans made under the United Kingdom Financial Agreement Act, 1946. This is a contra account to a corresponding item in "Loans to national governments". A fuller explanation is given under that category.

Balances receivable under agreements of sale of Crown assets

These are contra accounts to corresponding items under "Other loans and investments".

Certain Crown-owned assets, such as land, buildings, machinery, equipment, etc., are sold under specific agreements of sale. When agreements of sale have been made the value of these properties are recorded under "Other loans and investments" with contra accounts being recorded as deferred credits. As payments are received and credited to the asset account, a charge is made to the deferred credit account with a corresponding credit to non-tax revenue, proceeds from sales.

During the year payments of $2 million were received. There were no new agreements during the year. The balance at March 31, 1964 was $5 million.

Crown Assets Disposal Corporation—government equity

This is a contra account to a corresponding asset account which records the government equity in the agency account of Crown Assets Disposal Corporation under "Other loans and investments".

The balance at March 31, 1964 was $5 million compared with $6 million at March 31, 1963.

Suspense accounts

These consist of balances where some uncertainty as to disposition exists.

There was a net decrease of $1 million during the year bringing the outstanding balances to $5 million at March 31, 1964.

Cash accounts

Cash on deposit in Receiver General accounts with the Bank of Canada and the chartered banks totalled $829 million at March 31, 1964 compared with $377 million at March 31, 1963. The increase of $452 million resulted from net non-budgetary receipts (including unmatured debt transactions) of $1,071 million exceeding the government's budgetary deficit of $619 million. A more detailed explanation of the cash transactions is given in section 5 of this volume.

Cash in hands of collectors and in transit represents moneys received by public officers on or before March 31, but not deposited to the credit of the Receiver General until after that date. At March 31, 1964 these moneys totalled $156 million, $22 million more than at March 31, 1963.

Post office receipts in hands of postmasters and in transit at March 31, 1964 totalled $16 million compared with $15 million at March 31, 1963.

Departmental working capital advances and revolving funds

These accounts record the advances outstanding at the close of the fiscal year for working funds for certain departmental activities.

The largest of these is the agricultural commodities stabilization account which was $64 million at March 31, 1964 compared with $139 million at March 31, 1963. This account records the operations of the agricultural stabilization board which was established under provisions of the Agricultural Stabilization Act to take such action as is necessary to stabilize the price of agricultural commodities at their respective prescribed prices.

During 1963–64 the board's operations resulted in a net decrease of $75 million in the account at March 31, 1964 compared with the balance at March 31, 1963. The operating loss of the board for 1963–64 was $125 million of which $122 million was charged to budgetary expenditures, the remaining $3 million was carried forward to the 1964–65 fiscal year. This loss resulted from deficiency payments of $1 millior ; payments of $43 million for stabilization of prices; and losses of $25 million on sales, $51 million on revaluation of inventory and $5 million on goods destroyed by fire.

During 1962–63 the board's operations resulted in a net increase of $6 million and the operating loss which was charged in full to budgetary expenditures was $72 million. The loss resulted from deficiency payments of $4 million, payments of $14 million for stabilization of prices and a loss of $54 million on sales.

The defence production revolving fund records the cost of materials procured for use in the manufacture of defence equipment until such time as they are billed to the Department of National Defence or sold to defence contractors for use in the manufacture of defence equipment, as well as working capital loans and advances for their production. During 1963–64 credits of $79 million to the fund exceeded charges of $68 million resulting in a balance of $28 million at March 31, 1964. In 1962–63 charges of $27 million exceeded credits of $15 million resulting in a balance of $39 million at March 31, 1963.

The Royal Canadian Mint maintains separate accounts for bronze, gold, nickel and silver. These accounts record transactions in respect of the purchases and sales of gold, silver, bronze and nickel. Debits represent the value of all metals purchased for the minting of coinage and medals, the net face value of mutilated coin withdrawn from circulation and payments made by the mint for newly-mined gold, old jewellery, etc. Credits represent the face value of all coin issued to the Bank of Canada and gold bullion transferred to the Bank of Canada and sales of silver bullion, fine gold, medals, etc.

The balance at March 31, 1964 totalled $29 million and included $21 million in respect of silver, $8 million in respect of gold and amounts under $500 thousand in respect of bronze and nickel. At March 31, 1963 balances totalled $27 million; $21 million for silver, $6 million for gold and small amounts for bronze and nickel.

Miscellaneous departmental imprest and advance accounts record accountable advances to departments held on deposit in various banks in the name of the department concerned, and certain travelling and imprest advances to public officers. During the fiscal year these advances are carried as charges to the relevant appropriations; if they are accounted for but not repaid at the year-end, they are cleared from the appropriation and debited to this account and at the beginning of the new fiscal year are cleared from the account and charged to the appropriation concerned.

These advances totalled $17 million at March 31, 1964 compared with $19 million at March 31, 1963.

Stockpiling of uranium concentrates is a new account and records the acquisition of uranium concentrates in accordance with contracts to be entered into with the approval of the Governor in Council by the Eldorado Mining and Refining Limited on behalf of Her Majesty in right of Canada with certain mining companies. The balance at March 31, 1964 was $14 million.

Securities investment account

Section 17 of the Financial Administration Act authorizes the Minister of Finance, when he deems it advisable for the sound and efficient management of public money or the public debt to purchase, acquire and hold securities of or guaranteed by the government and to sell any such securities purchased or acquired.

This account records these holdings at amortized cost. Amortization is calculated to date of maturity on bonds purchased at a discount, and to call date if one is given (otherwise to date of maturity) on bonds purchased at a premium. Also included are Canada savings bonds at par for resale to subscribers under the government employees instalment purchase plan and stocks, bonds, debentures and other securities assigned to the Minister of Finance from the Canadian Arsenals pension fund for liquidation by the Minister and payment into the public service superannuation account on or before March 31, 1966.

Loans to United Kingdom

Under authority of the United Kingdom Financial Agreement Act, 1946, a credit of $1,250 million was extended to the United Kingdom government. The purpose of the credit was to facilitate purchases by the United Kingdom of goods and services in Canada and to assist in making it possible for that government to meet transitional postwar deficits in its current balance of payments, to maintain adequate reserves of gold and dollars, and to assume the obligations of multilateral trade.

The amount of the credit drawn by December 31, 1951 was $1,185 million and was to be repaid in 50 annual instalments beginning on that date with interest at 2 per cent per annum.

In 1957, the Government of the United Kingdom deferred the payment due December 31, 1957 of principal and interest. The deferment was by an agreement between the Governments of Canada and the United Kingdom that was approved by a 1957 Act to amend the United Kingdom Financial Agreement Act, 1946. The agreement, which became effective April 29, 1957, permits the United Kingdom, in lieu of any right of waiver hitherto existing, to defer after December 31, 1956 seven instalments of principal and interest under certain conditions. Principal and interest due December 31, 1957 was so deferred. The first of any such deferred instalments is payable on December 31, 2001, and the others annually thereafter, in order. In addition, it permitted the instalment of interest in respect of the year 1956 to be deferred and provided that this instalment of interest so deferred shall be paid on December 31 of the year immediately following the year in which the last of all other instalments, including those deferred, is due. Interest of 2 per cent is payable on deferred instalment of both principal and interest.

During 1963-64 the United Kingdom repaid the regular instalment of $18 million bringing the balance at March 31, 1964 to $995 million.

Export Credits Insurance Act, Part II

Advances under the above authority to the Governments of Belgium, France and The Netherlands to assist them in the purchasing of goods in Canada were reduced by repayments of $2 million during the year, bringing the balance to $129 million at March 31, 1964.

The decrease of $2 million was the regular annual repayment by the Government of Belgium. There were no repayments by the Governments of France and The Netherlands as each of them had made advance payments in 1962–63 covering instalments up to and including the 1969 instalment.

Special loans to Colombo plan countries

These loans are made to Colombo plan countries to finance the purchase of wheat and flour by them from Canada.

At March 31, 1964 these loans totalled $16 million, $15 million to India and $1 million to Ceylon. During 1963–64 repayments were $5 million and no additional loans were made.

Miscellaneous loans and advances

During 1963–64 loans totalling $11 million were made to the Government of India for the purchase in Canada of aircraft and associated spare parts and equipment and on which repayments of $1 million were received.

Other loans and investments

Balances in these accounts totalled $1,198 million at March 31, 1964 compared with $1,111 million at March 31, 1963, an increase of $87 million.

The main items resulting in the overall increase were increases of $58 million in loans to the old age security fund and $21 million in the veterans land act advances account.

Subscriptions to capital of, and working capital advances and loans to, international organizations

Canada's subscriptions to the capital of international organizations increased during the year from $694 million to $702 million at March 31, 1964 due to additional subscriptions of $8 million to the international development association. Working capital advances and loans to international organizations in the amount of $8 million at March 31, 1964 were approximately the same as at the previous year-end.

Loans to provincial governments

At March 31, 1964 these accounts had a balance of $114 million, $3 million less than at March 31, 1963.

Included in this category is the provincial tax collection agreements account which records transactions in respect of federal-provincial tax collection agreements. The balance in this account at March 31, 1964 was $10 million compared with $13 million at March 31, 1963. An explanation of these agreements is given under tax revenues in section 3 of this volume.

Veterans land act advances

Advances are made by the government under the Veterans Land Act for the acquisition, by the Director, of properties, buildings, materials, live stock, farm equipment and commercial fishing equipment for the purposes of the act, for sale to qualified veterans of world war 2 and Korea under sale agreements which carry specified conditional benefits if the terms of such agreements are adhered to by the veteran.

During 1963–64 advances amounted to $43 million and repayments were $24 million resulting in a net increase of $19 million bringing the balance to $243 million at March 31, 1964. In 1962–63 advances totalled $39 million and repayments were $23 million bringing the balance to $224 million at March 31, 1963.

The reserve for conditional benefits under the act consists of amounts charged to budgetary expenditure, beginning with the fiscal year 1945–46, to cover one-tenth of the amount of conditional benefits included in sales to veterans and credited to this account. As and when conditional benefits are earned the amounts are charged hereto and credited to the advances. During the year $5 million was charged to the reserve account and additional reserves of $3 million were credited thereto, resulting in a balance of $26 million in the reserve account at March 31, 1964. During 1962–63 charges were $5 million and credits were $3 million resulting in a balance of $28 million at March 31, 1963.

Miscellaneous loans and investments

Miscellaneous loans and investments totalled $165 million at March 31, 1964, an increase of $61 million during the year. This increase was due mainly to additional loans of $58 million to the old age security fund, bringing the balance of these loans to $100 million at March 31, 1964.

Deferred charges

These consist of the unamortized portions of actuarial deficiencies in the Canadian forces, the public service and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation accounts and the outstanding balance of unamortized loan flotation costs.

The total balance at March 31, 1964 was $400 million compared with $936 million at March 31, 1963. The decrease of $536 million resulted from a deletion from the accounts as a charge to net debt of $528 million in respect of the unamortized portions of actuarial deficiencies and a decrease of $8 million in unamortized loan flotation costs.

Unamortized portions of actuarial deficiencies

These accounts record the unamortized portions of actuarial deficiencies in the Canadian forces, the public service and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation accounts which have been set up as deferred charges. The balance in the accounts at March 31, 1964 was $277 million all of which was in respect of the public service superannuation account. At March 31, 1963 the balance was $805 million of which $277 million was in respect of the public service superannuation account, $525 million in respect of the Canadian forces superannuation account and $3 million in respect of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation account.

The decrease of $528 million in the accounts during the year consisted of $525 million in respect of the Canadian forces superannuation account and $3 million in respect of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation account. These amounts plus an additional $3 million credited during 1963 64 to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation account were deleted from the asset accounts and charged to net debt under authority of Department of Finance vote 68e of Appropriation Act No. 4, 1964.

Unamortized loan flotation costs

This account records the residual balances of discounts, commissions, redemption bonuses and conversion premiums on loan flotations that have not been charged to budgetary expenditures. The total of these balances at March 31, 1964 was $124 million a decrease of $8 million from the previous year-end balance of $132 million.

During 1963–64, charges to the account amounted to $43 million of which $26 million was for new loans issued in 1963–64, $3 million was a net adjustment in respect of cancellations, exchanges, conversions and additional issues of existing loans, and $14 million was in respect of treasury bill discounts which will be charged to interest on public debt in 1964–65. Credits were $51 million of which $36 million was charged to the budgetary expenditure item "Annual amortization costs" and $15 million (representing discount applicable to 1963–64 on treasury bills sold in 1962–63) was a charge to the budgetary expenditure item "Interest on public debt".

Suspense accounts

The only account in this category is the cheque adjustment suspense account which reflects unadjusted balances resulting from the reconciliation of payments for redemption of paid cheques with the amount of those cheques as subsequently determined in adjustment of the outstanding treasury cheques account.

Capital assets

Assets of the government such as land, buildings, works and equipment, etc., that are charged to budgetary expenditure at the time of acquisition or construction, are included in this category and are shown on the statement of assets and liabilities at a nominal value of $1.

Inactive loans and investments

Loans and investments which are not currently revenue-producing or realizable are recorded herein. Included are the loan of $49 million to China under the Export Credit Insurance Act, loans of $24 million and $7 million made to Roumania and Greece in 1919–20 and 1920–21 and advances of $15 million in respect of the implementation of guarantees (Ming Sung Industrial Company Limited).

Reserve for losses on realization of assets

There was no change in this reserve during the year, the balance at March 31, 1964 being $546 million, unchanged from the previous year-end balance.

Net Debt

At March 31, 1964 the net debt of Canada, which is the excess of gross liabilities over the net recorded assets, or, in effect, the accumulated overall deficit since Confederation, amounted to $15,070 million compared with $13,920 million at March 31, 1963. The increase of $1,150 million reflects the budgetary deficit of $619 million plus a charge to net debt of $531 million, of which $525 million was the unamortized portion of the actuarial deficiency in the Canadian forces superannuation account and $6 million was the unamortized portion of the actuarial deficiency in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation account. The deletion of these amounts and the corresponding charge to net debt was authorized by Department of Finance vote 68e of Appropriation Act No. 4, 1964.

Contingent Liabilities

In addition to its direct liabilities which are reflected in the statement of assets and liabilities of Canada, the government has assumed certain contingent liabilities, the details of which are set out in sections 6 and 7 of this volume.

The major categories of this indirect or contingent debt are the guarantee of insured loans under the National Housing Act, guaranteed bonds and debentures of the Canadian National Railways and the guarantee of deposits maintained by the chartered banks in the Bank of Canada. The remainder consists chiefly of guarantees of loans made by chartered banks to the Canadian Wheat Board and to farmers and veterans for certain authorized purposes and guarantees under the Export Credits Insurance Act.

THE CASH POSITION

The government's cash account represents balances of current and special deposits to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada in the Bank of Canada, chartered banks in Canada and certain banks in London, New York, Paris and Bonn. These balances totalled $829 million at March 31, 1964 an increase of $452 million over the balance of $377 million at March 31, 1963.

The following statement summarizes both the budgetary and non-budgetary transactions for 1963–64 and indicates how they affected the government's cash position. For purposes of comparison the corresponding figures for 1962–63 are also shown.

The cash position of the government is affected not only by budgetary transactions but also by changes in the government's unmatured debt and other non-budgetary transactions. Non-budgetary transactions are those which affect the government's asset and liability accounts and must be taken into account when considering the full scope of the government's financial operations and their effect on the economy of the country.

In 1963–64 a deficit of $619 million in budgetary transactions and net receipts of $337 million from non-budgetary transactions (excluding unmatured debt transactions) resulted in a net cash requirement of $282 million for the fiscal year. As transactions in unmatured debt during the year resulted in an increase of $734 million in outstanding unmatured debt as at March 31, 1964, Receiver General bank balances increased by $452 million. In 1962–63 the budgetary deficit of $692 million and net disbursements of $772 million for non-budgetary transactions resulted in a cash requirement of $1,464 million which was financed by an increase of $1,064 million in outstanding unmatured debt and a draw-down of $400 million from the government's cash deposits.

On the assets side, the non-budgetary transactions consist, for the most part, of loans and advances to, and repayments by, Crown corporations and other government agencies and funds (including the old age security fund), national, provincial and municipal governments, international organizations, veterans and other borrowers. On the liability side they relate mainly to receipts and payments in connection with the many deposit and trust accounts, and annuity, insurance and pension funds held or administered by the government.

Non-budgetary receipts and credits (excluding unmatured debt transactions)

As shown in table 1, non-budgetary receipts and credits totalled $979 million in 1963–64. Further details are presented in the following table:

THE PUBLIC DEBT

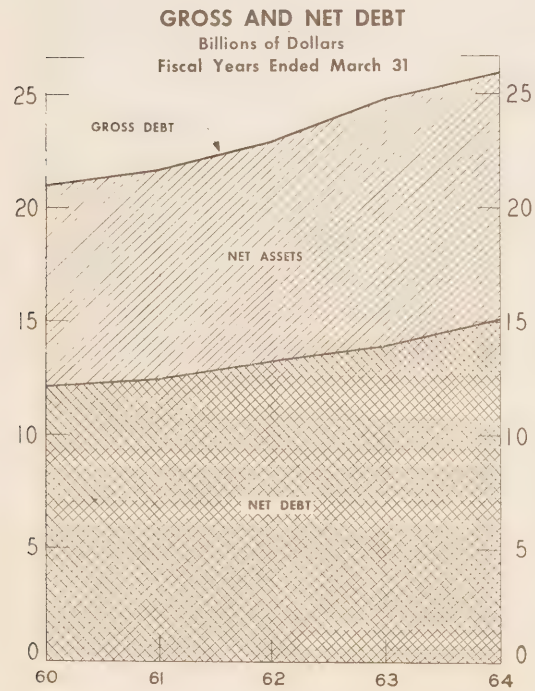
Summary

The public debt of Canada may be described as consisting of those liabilities which appear on the government's statement of assets and liabilities. In addition the government has certain indirect or contingent obligations such as the guarantee of securities of the Canadian National Railways, insured loans made by approved lending institutions under the National Housing Act and deposits maintained by the chartered banks in the Bank of Canada.

At March 31, 1964 the government's liabilities as shown on the balance sheet totalled $25,924 million, net recorded assets totalled $10,854 million resulting in a net debt of $15,070 million.



The following table shows the gross public debt, the unmatured debt, net recorded assets and the net debt at March 31 for each of the fiscal years 1960 to 1964 inclusive:

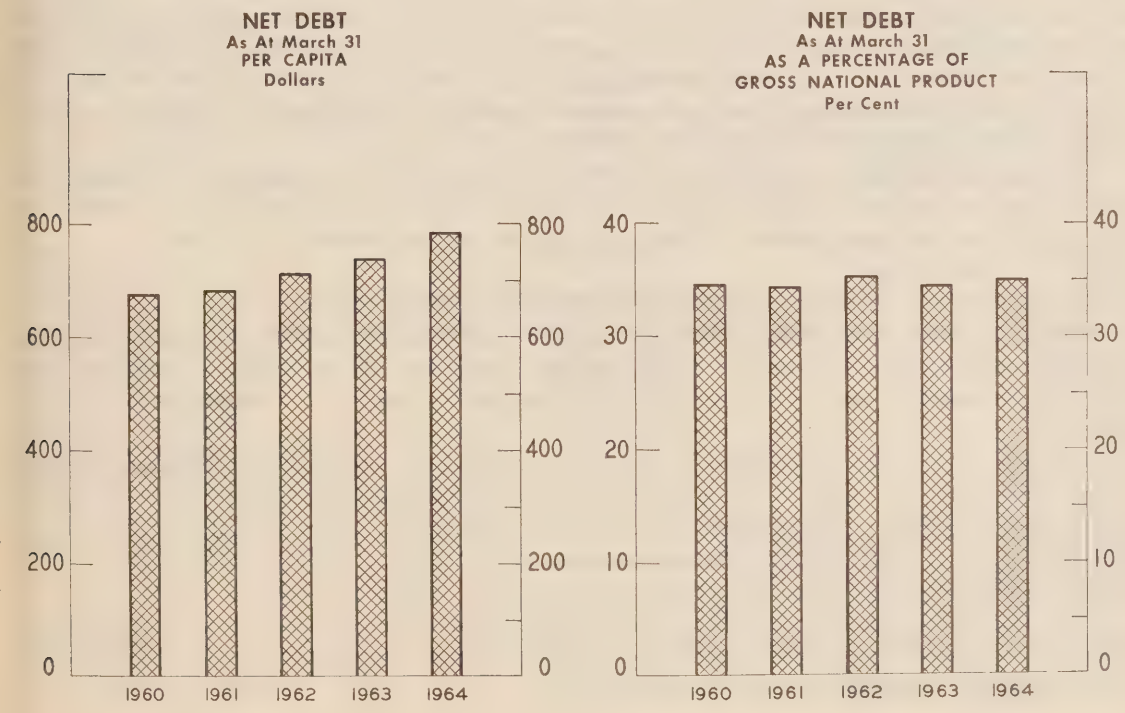
Gross debt

The gross debt of Canada, or the total of liabilities as shown on the statement of assets and liabilities, was $25,924 million at March 31, 1964, $1,124 million higher than at March 31, 1963. There were net increases of $778 million in unmatured debt and $384 million in annuity, insurance and pension account balances and a net decrease of $38 million in other liability accounts. Unmatured debt in the amount of $18,740 million constituted 72 per cent of the total, and annuity, insurance and pension accounts in the amount of $5,131 million constituted 20 per cent of total liabilities. At March 31, 1963 unmatured debt was $17,962 million, or 72 per cent of total liabilities, and annuity, insurance and pension accounts totalled $4,747 million or 19 per cent.



Net recorded assets

At March 31, 1964 the government's net recorded assets totalled $10,854 million, a decrease of $26 million from the total at March 31, 1963. There were net decreases of $528 million in unamortized portions of actuarial deficiencies in superannuation accounts and $135 million in advances to the exchange fund account and net increases of $467 million in current assets, $116 million in loans to, and investments in, Crown corporations, and $54 million in other asset accounts.

Net debt

The net debt of Canada is represented by the excess of liabilities over net recorded assets, or the accumulated overall budgetary deficit since Confederation.

As gross liabilities were $25,924 million at March 31, 1964 and net recorded assets were $10,854 million the net debt was $15,070 million at March 31, 1964. At March 31, 1963 total liabilities were $24,799 million, net recorded assets were $10,879 million and net debt was $13,920 million. Auditor General's Certificate

The above Statement has been examined in accordance with the provisions of the Financial Administration Act. I have obtained all the information and explanations I have required and, subject to the comments in my report to the House of Commons, I certify that the Statement is in agreement with the accounts maintained by the Department of Finance and that, in my opinion, it exhibits a correct view of the financial position of Canada as at March 31, 1964.

A. M. HENDERSON,
Auditor General.

NOTES TO STATEMENT OF ASSETS AND LIABILITIES AS AT MARCH 31, 1964

The increase in net debt of $1,150,379,480 reflects the budgetary deficit of $619,197,480 plus adjustments of $531,182,000 in respect of prior years' transactions which were authorized by Department of Finance Vote 68e covering the unamortized portions of the actuarial deficiencies of $524,849,000 in the Canadian forces superannuation account and $6,333,000 in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation account.

The liability in respect of annuity, insurance and pension accounts does not include any provision for additional liabilities resulting from salary and pay increases subsequent to December 31, 1957 for the public service superannuation account. The additional liability will be included in the next quinquennial actuarial valuation to be made as at December 31, 1962. During the year the unamortized portions of actuarial deficiencies in the Canadian forces superannuation account and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation account were charged to net debt in accordance with Department of Finance Vote 68e. Also, the additional liability for the Canadian forces superannuation account resulting from salary and pay increases of general application during the year was charged to expenditure in accordance with the Canadian Forces Superannuation Act, c. 21, 1959.

Unmatured debt includes bonds payable in New York in the amount of $348,175,000 U.S. converted at the official parity rate of $1 U.S. = $1.08108 Canadian. The 1962-63 figures also include bonds payable in London in the amount of £11,425,190 converted at the official parity rate of £1 = $3.027 Canadian which matured July 1, 1963.

Explanations regarding the general nature of the items in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities

ASSETS

1. (a) Cash represents balances of current and special deposits at credit of the Receiver General of Canada in banks in Canada, London, New York, Paris and Bonn and cash in hands of collectors and in transit. Cash in hands of collectors and in transit represents moneys received by public officers on or before March 31 but not deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada until after that date.

1. (b) Departmental working capital advances and revolving funds constitute the advances outstanding at the close of the relative fiscal years for working funds of certain government departments.

1. (c) This shows the temporary holdings by the Government of Canada at amortized cost of its own securities (including Canada savings bonds at par for resale to subscribers under the government employees instalment purchase plan). Also included are securities assigned to the Minister of Finance from the Canadian Arsenals Limited pension fund for liquidation by the Minister and payment into the public service superannuation account on or before March 31, 1966.

1. (d) This category includes moneys received after March 31, but applicable to the current year, and Post Office moneys in hands of collectors and in transit at March 31. Accounts receivable, with the exception of those held as charges against departmental working capital advances and revolving funds, are not included in this statement. Summaries of accounts receivable, furnished by the departments and shown in the departmental sections of Volume II, do not include those of the Department of National Revenue—Taxation Division, in respect of taxes receivable.

2. These are advances to finance the purchase of gold and foreign exchange. The value of investments from advances on the basis of official parity rate on March 31, 1964 and closing exchange rate on March 31, 1963 is also shown in parentheses.

3. This category records the cash and securities held by the government for the retirement of the 3 per cent Newfoundland stock 1933-63 which matured July 1, 1963.

4. Loans to, and investments in, Crown corporations represent the government's outstanding advances to Crown corporations for working capital, capital expenditure and other purposes, investment in the capital of corporations and advances to corporations for reloaning. The government equity in Crown corporations as recorded in the accounts of Canada as at March 31, 1964, together with the unrecorded government equity in the surpluses (less deficits), reserves, etc., of the Crown corporations at their respective years ended coincident with, or immediately prior to, the fiscal year ended March 31, 1964, is shown in Section 9, appendix No. 12.

5. Loans to national governments consist mainly of the loan to the government of the United Kingdom under the authority of the United Kingdom Financial Agreement Act, 1946 and loans to foreign countries under the Export Credits Insurance Act for purchase of goods and services in Canada.

6. (a) This category records Canada's subscription to the capital of the international bank for reconstruction and development, the international development association, the international finance corporation and the international monetary fund. The subscription to the international bank for reconstruction and development consists of Canadian dollars and United States dollars; to the international development association, of United States dollars and non-interest-bearing notes; to the international finance corporation, of shares of stock of the corporation; and to the international monetary fund, of gold, Canadian dollars, United States dollars and non-interest-bearing notes. The notes, which are payable on demand, are carried in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities under "Current and demand liabilities". This category also includes working capital advances and loans to international organizations representing Canada's equity in the various organizations.

6. (b) Under this heading are loans to provinces originally made under relief acts and other legislation, an overpayment arising out of 1957-62 tax-sharing agreements and advances under existing federal-provincial tax collection agreements.

6. (c) This account records the cost of the acquisition of properties, building materials, live stock, farm equipment and commercial fishing equipment for purposes of the act for sale to qualified veterans of world war 2 and Korea, under sale agreements which carry specified conditional benefits if the terms of such agreements are adhered to by the veterans.

6. (d) This category is composed of miscellaneous loans and balances receivable.

7. This category records the security holdings of various deposit and trust and annuity, insurance and pension accounts.

8. (a) These accounts record the unamortized portions of the actuarial deficiencies in the Canadian forces superannuation account, the public service superannuation account and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation account which have been set up as deferred charges. During the year the unamortized portions of actuarial deficiencies in the Canadian forces superannuation account and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation account were charged to net debt in accordance with Department of Finance Vote 68e.

8. (b) This account consists of discounts, commissions, redemption and conversion premiums on loan flotations remaining to be charged annually to expenditure. These costs are amortized in the case of general loans, over the period from the date of issue to the earliest call date, if one is specified, otherwise to the maturity date of the loan, and in the case of Canada savings bonds over half the unexpired period to maturity date for existing loans at March 31, 1955 and over a period of five years from date of issue for subsequent loans.

9. The only item in this category is the cheque adjustment suspense account.

10. This records at a nominal value of $1 such capital assets of the government as land, buildings, works, equipment, etc., which, in accordance with long standing practice, are charged to budgetary expenditures at the time of acquisition or construction.

11. This group includes loans and advances which are not currently revenue-producing or realizable.

12. This reserve is provided for losses on realization of assets.

NET DEBT

13. The net debt of Canada is represented by the excess of liabilities over the net recorded assets, or, in effect, the accumulated deficit since Confederation.

LIABILITIES

14. (a) This is the balance of treasury cheques issued and unpaid on March 31, with the exception of those outstanding for ten years or more, which have been transferred to non-tax revenue—refunds of previous years' expenditure.

14. (b) This account represents the treasury cheques issued in April which are applicable to the previous fiscal year as authorized by section 35 of the Financial Administration Act.

14. (c) This account records the non-interest-bearing notes in respect of Canada's subscription to the capital of international organizations.

14. (d) This item represents the amount of matured bonds and other securities outstanding on March 31, with the exception of those transferred to revenue. In the fiscal year 1958-59 a new practice was introduced of transferring to non-tax revenue—miscellaneous, those matured bonds and other securities which are outstanding for 15 years after the date of call or of maturity, whichever is the earlier, but in no event less than five years after the date of maturity.

14. (e) This represents the amount of interest which has become due on the public debt but remains unpaid.

14. (f) This represents the amount of accrued interest to March 31 on the public debt but which is not due and payable until some future date.

14. (g) This group includes miscellaneous liabilities of the Government of Canada. Generally the creditor is in possession of some form of the government's negotiable paper that is due and payable on demand. The liability for post office money orders is the main item in this group.

15. The accounts in this category represent the government's liability for moneys deposited for various purposes. They fall into two broad classes. The first of these is the deposit accounts which cover mainly those cases where the government has received the moneys as a guarantee that work will be properly performed. The other class, comprising the large majority of the accounts, consists of those cases where the government acts virtually as trustee, administering the funds for the purposes for which they were created.

95472—9½

16. This category records the government's liability as an insurer of certain persons and as administrator of certain pension funds and government annuities. The government receives premiums or similar assessments and in turn pays out specific benefits. There is also included the uninvested portion of the unemployment insurance fund administered by the Unemployment Insurance Commission.
17. This category records the undisbursed balances of appropriations to special accounts for which moneys have been appropriated by Parliament and from which disbursements may be made for authorized purposes.
18. This category records those accounts which reflect amounts due to the government but in respect of which payment has been deferred. These are contra accounts to corresponding items in the assets.
19. The accounts in this category cover items in which there are elements involving uncertainty as to accounting treatment or disposal and certain credit balances in respect of which accounting treatment is known but which are held for final disposition pending completion of certain conditions.
20. This account shows the unmatured debt of the Government of Canada which includes bonds payable in New York in the amount of $348,175,000 U.S. converted at the official parity rate of $1 U.S. = $1.08108 Canadian. The 1962–63 figures also include special non-marketable bonds redeemable on thirty days notice held by the Unemployment Insurance Commission in the amount of $11,500,000 which were redeemed during the year and bonds payable in London in the amount of £11,425,190 converted at the official parity rate of £1 = $3.027 Canadian which matured July 1, 1963.

4 In this account is recorded the Canadian equivalent of blocked currency of foreign countries which was received in connection with war reparations and which is available only within those countries for restricted purposes.

5 This account is to record moneys received by public officers prior to the close of business on March 31 of any fiscal year but not recorded in current cash accounts until after that date.

1 This account reflects Canada's subscription to the international bank for reconstruction and development. The subscription consists of gold, Canadian dollars and United States dollars.

2 This covers Canada's subscription under the International Development Association Act which consists of United States dollars and non-interest-bearing notes which are carried as a liability of the Government of Canada under the heading "Current and demand liabilities".

3 This account records the purchase of 3,600 shares of stock of the international finance corporation for the amount of $3,522,375 under authority of Vote 731, Appropriation Act No. 6, 1956.

4 This account reflects Canada's quota in the international monetary fund. Canada's quota was originally set at the Canadian dollar equivalent of U.S. $300 million. When Canada joined the fund in 1946-47, one-quarter of our quota, or U.S. $75 million, was paid in gold. The remaining three-quarters, or U.S. $225 million, was payable in Canadian currency. If the fund does not require a currency, this portion of a member's subscription may be paid in the form of demand notes in its national currency, except for a small working balance which is required in cash. In Canada's case, the position at the end of 1949 was that, with the Canadian dollar having a par value of $1.10 per U.S. dollar, the three-quarters of our subscription payable in Canadian currency was equivalent to Can. $247,087,000. This was paid to the fund in the form of a demand note for $243 million lodged with the Bank of Canada and a cash balance in the fund's No. 1 account at the Bank of Canada amounting to $4,087,000 (it had to be at least 1% of Canada's quota).

Canada adopted a floating exchange rate in October, 1950, and was required to maintain the U.S. dollar value of its subscription to the fund. The fund computed the U.S. dollar value of its holdings of Canadian dollars on a quarterly basis, and an adjustment was made in these holdings once a year shortly after the close of the fund's fiscal year on April 30. Canada was thus obliged to make a settlement with the fund each year, falling in the second quarter usually. On these occasions, the settlement took the form initially of a credit or debit by Canada to the fund's No. 1 cash account at the Bank of Canada. Then Canada would adjust this balance by substituting demand notes for cash when possible, leaving enough cash in the account to cover 1% of our quota. Whenever this account contained more than $1 million in excess of this minimum requirement, the Bank of Canada automatically remitted cash to the treasury and substituted demand notes in its place, in round lots of $1 million. This procedure was followed until Canada had established a par value for the Canadian dollar in May 1962.

Canada's quota in the fund was raised from U.S. $300 million to U.S. $550 million in October 1959. The increase in our quota was paid in the following manner: (1) a payment of U.S. $62.5 million to the fund in gold (25%); (2) the issue to the fund of Can. $179,736,000 of which $177 million was in the form of demand notes, and $2,736,000 in cash was put in the No. 1 account to maintain the 1% requirement on the larger quota.

5 This fund was established under authority of section 10, of the Centennial of Canadian Confederation Act, c. 60, 1961, as amended, which provides that amounts appropriated by Parliament for the purposes of the fund shall be credited thereto. Payments from the fund will be for the purpose of making grants, to any province, or to any organization, the objects of which are similar to the objects of the Commission, for the observance of the Centennial of Confederation of Canada.

The Commission may, if it sees fit, accept any property by way of gift, bequest or devise and may, notwithstanding anything in this Act, expend, administer or dispose of any such property for the purposes of this Act subject to the terms, if any, upon which such property was given, bequeathed or devised to the Commission.

6 This fund was established under authority of section 265 of the Railway Act, c. 234, R.S., as amended, which provides that "sums heretofore and hereafter appropriated and set apart to aid actual construction work for the protection, safety and convenience of the public in respect of crossings shall be placed to the credit of a special account to be known as the railway grade crossing fund".

The sums are to be applied by the Board of Transport Commissioners solely towards the cost, not including maintenance and operation, of work actually done in respect of existing crossings at rail level; of reconstruction and improvement of grade separations at crossings in existence on June 28, 1955; and of placing reflective markings on the sides of railway cars.

The total amount that may be applied during the six-year period from January 31, 1958, towards the cost of (a) placing reflective markings on the sides of railway cars shall not exceed 80 per cent of such cost; (b) in the case of a crossing at rail level the aggregate of 80 per cent of the cost (except for relocation of a public utility plant that is part of the work) or $500,000 for any one crossing whichever is the lesser and 80 per cent of the cost of such relocation; and (c) in the case of reconstruction and improvement of a grade separation, the aggregate of 50 per cent of the cost of the work (except the relocation of a public utility plant that is part of the work) or $250,000 for any one crossing, whichever is the lesser, and 50 per cent of the cost of such relocation.

Under the provisions of the act any amount to the credit of the fund, together with the sum of $5,000,000 which is to be appropriated in each fiscal year, is to be applied towards the cost of work actually done in respect of crossings.

In addition a further sum of $100,000 was credited to the fund during the current fiscal year (see Department of Transport Vote 212) as a special contribution for the general purposes of the fund and to provide for an increased number of applications for railway grade separation projects.

No amount shall be applied unless a crossing has been in existence at least three years prior to the making of the order by the board.

During the current year the fund was credited with a sum of $5,100,000 and debited with expenditures amounting to $14,154,176.

Outstanding commitments as at March 31, 1964, amounted to $37,743,646.

A listing of payments is shown in section 45 of volume II of this report under Department of Transport.

4 Through an agreement with the Province of Prince Edward Island, the federal government financed the building of the Hillsborough bridge in 1905 and the province agreed to pay $9,750 annually toward the upkeep of the bridge. This was passed on to the Canadian National Railways for maintenance purposes until 1952 when the railway discontinued use of the bridge. Annual payments received in respect of 1952-53 and thereafter were credited to this account. No payment was received during the current fiscal year as the Province of Prince Edward Island was relieved from its obligation to contribute $9,750 annually towards the interest on the cost of construction and maintenance of the bridge under a new agreement dated December 28, 1962 with the Government of Canada.

5 Contributions withheld from the pay of civil servants, members of the regular forces and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, as well as employees of crown companies and contributions paid personally by participants who may be on loan to outside organizations all of whom are serving outside Canada are credited to this account. following return and payments for hospitalization provided in service hospitals on behalf of participants are debited hereto.

6 Credits to this account represent incomplete subscriptions to victory loans 1917 to 1919 inclusive and 1941 to 1945 inclusive and to Canada savings bonds 1946 to 1963 inclusive.

7 Unclaimed matured bonds which cannot be delivered are cancelled and the value, including that of any interest coupons, is credited to this account. Disbursements are made to the owners of such bonds upon application.

8 Deductions made from salaries of Ontario residents, who are paid through central pay office, are credited to this account pending transmittal to the Ontario Hospital Commission.

9 Deductions from the salaries of employees who are paid through central pay office and who have elected to come under the federal group surgical-medical insurance plan are credited to this account pending transmittal to the insurance companies participating in the plan.

10 All cheques except those drawn against asset and liability accounts, which remain undelivered for a certain period subsequent to date of issue, are credited to this account pending claims therefor. In 1963-64 an amount of $152,899 representing cheques unclaimed for ten years or more was transferred to non-tax revenue—miscellaneous.

11 The chartered banks of Canada submit semi-annually to this department lists of outstanding drafts on government accounts. The amounts of these drafts, which cannot be identified, are credited to this account pending information as to the department or service concerned. Clearance is made upon receipt of such information. In 1963-64 an amount of $74 representing drafts unclaimed for ten years or more was transferred to non-tax revenue—miscellaneous.

12 To this account is credited the value of war savings certificates and stamps which are returned to the Bank of Canada for various reasons. When owners are located or identified disbursements are made.

13 When called bonds are presented for payment with coupons for the period subsequent to the date of call detached, the amount of the missing coupons is withheld from the redemption settlement to the bondholder and credited to these accounts. When the coupons are located or presented for payment, the adjustments by payment or transfer are debited hereto.

14 Section 11 of the National Defence Act, c. 184, R.S., as amended, provides that the Governor in Council may authorize the Minister to deliver to any department or agency of the Government of Canada any materiel that has not been declared surplus and that is not immediately required for the use of the Canadian forces or the Defence Research Board or for any other purposes under this act, for sale to such countries on such terms as the Governor in Council may determine. The proceeds of such sales are to be paid into a special account in the consolidated revenue fund and, subject to the approval of the Governor in Council, shall be used for the procurement of materiel; and payments out of the special account shall be made by the Minister of Finance on the requisition of the Minister of National Defence. Proceeds from such sales amounting to $362,336 were credited to this account during the fiscal year. A charge of $472,608 during the current fiscal year was classified as air—aircraft and engines.

15 This account is used to record instalment payments of arrears of domestic excise taxes and penalties held by the department until the full amount has been collected or the case has been otherwise disposed of; and of customs duty and excise taxes on importations found on investigation to be properly payable, and held to be applied on amending entries, or to be taken to account by seizure on completion of the investigations. Receipts which cannot be allocated immediately are also credited to this account pending clearance to the proper accounts.

16 This account records a deposit by a contractor of inspection costs subject to refund upon acceptance of the material by the department.

17 The Royal Canadian Mounted Police Pension Continuation Act, c. 34, 1959, directs that service of officers and constables of former provincial police forces taken over by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police may count for pension purposes, subject to payment therefor. Payment for this prior service was in some instances made by the provinces concerned, and in others by the personnel, and the amounts were credited to this account. As pensions to these men are a direct charge to the consolidated revenue fund, the amount to the credit of each man is transferred to revenue when he is pensioned. Withdrawals also represent payments to time-expired personnel not eligible for pension.

18 P.C. 1958-146, January 25, 1958, authorized the general radio regulations which provide that applications for a first licence for a private commercial broadcasting station licence be accompanied by a deposit of $100 or $500 depending on the power of the station. The amounts so received are credited to this account pending approval of the Board of Broadcast Governors and the issuance of an order in council in accordance with the Broadcasting Act or the rejection of the application. The deposits are then either transferred to non-tax revenue—privileges, licences and permits as a payment on account of a licence fee or are returned to the applicant.

19 To this account were credited all moneys collected by the Department of Transport, east coast and west coast radio services, and Edmonton-Whitehorse circuit for radio messages. The collections are subsequently apportioned between this department and the public utilities concerned, disbursements to the latter being made from the account. From time to time during the fiscal year, moneys earned by the department were transferred to revenue.

Vote 75 Health of Animals Division—Compensation for animals slaughtered 2,100,000
Expenditures ..... (20) $ 1,897,833

The Animal Contagious Diseases Act empowers the Minister to authorize the slaughtering of animals suffering from infectious or contagious disease, or those suspected of being so infected and those which are or have been in contact or close proximity to such animals, and to pay such compensation as he may determine, not to exceed values stated in the Act for grade and pure bred animals. When the sale of the carcass is unlawful, the Act also provides for additional compensation to be paid in respect of carcasses of cattle slaughtered. This additional compensation is to be the average value the carcass would have had if the sale had been lawful at time of slaughter, such average value to be determined by the Minister.

A Payments of premiums for hogs and lambs were made to producers by means of warrants issued at packing plants and other approved abattoirs and which are negotiable at par at chartered banks. Gross expenditures initially charged to this vote were $19,463,764 including an amount of $3,564,008 transferred from the allotment "South Saskatchewan River Project" to the asset account "South Saskatchewan River Project—Recoverable Costs" and an amount of $6,836 transferred from the allotment "Shellmouth Dam and Portage Diversion" to the asset account "Shellmouth Dam and Portage Diversion—Recoverable Costs", and $56,273 recovered from the Province of Manitoba in respect of the latter project. Both asset accounts are shown under the schedule, Other Loans and Investments, in Volume I of this report.

A number of conditions influenced performance on major works, principally the South Saskatchewan River Project where delays were caused through necessary changes in contract schedules on the spillway and the Qu'Appelle River Dam. Construction progress on the St. Mary's Irrigation Project (Waterton canal) was retarded by extended negotiations for control of land. Demand for small water development systems and individual farm dugouts was less than anticipated.

Revenues arising from services provided through the above expenditures amounted to $56,822 from the sale of cattle.

BOARD OF GRAIN COMMISSIONERS FOR CANADA

AUDITOR GENERAL OF CANADA

Ottawa, July 14, 1964.

The Chief Commissioner and Commissioners,
Board of Grain Commissioners for Canada,
Winnipeg, Manitoba.

We have examined the accounts and financial statements of the Board of Grain Commissioners for Canada for the year ended March 31, 1964. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and included a general review of the accounting procedures and of the system of internal control, together with such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The powers and duties of the Board are defined in the Canada Grain Act, R.S. 1952, c.25, as amended. The Act empowers the Board to make regulations or orders governing matters relating to the handling of grain and regulations so made are required to be published in consolidated form in the Canada Gazette during the month of August in each year.

For purposes of accounting and financial control, the Board functions in the same manner as a branch of a department of the Government of Canada—the expenditures of the Board being provided for by parliamentary appropriations for the Department of Agriculture and cash receipts being deposited to the credit of the Receiver General as departmental revenues. The Board's expenditures and revenues are therefore included in the accounts of the Government of Canada which are examined and certified by the Auditor General of Canada.

A copy of this report is being sent to the Minister of Agriculture.

Summary of Expenditure and Revenue

The Statement of Expenditure and Revenue, by Branches, for the year ended March 31, 1964 is attached and shows an excess of expenditure over revenue of $2,282,983. In previous reports we have observed that no charges were included as expenditure of the Board for those services which were supplied without charge by other government departments. The expenditures for the year under review, as shown in the Statement of Expenditure and Revenue, now include the estimated cost of these services.

We have also reported in previous years that the costs of the various services provided by the Board have been increasing steadily over the years but that the fees for these services have not been revised since 1920, in the case of weighing services, and 1949 in the case of inspection services. We were advised by the Deputy Minister of Agriculture in May, 1964, "that effective August 1, 1965 the Board of Grain Commissioners proposes to amend its regulations to increase inspection and weighing fees by 50%, in order to enable the Board to meet expenditures in providing these services." In setting the implementation date at August 1, 1965, the Board's decision was based on the fact that it did not consider it equitable to impose changes in fees which would affect contracts already entered into by the Wheat Board under the international agreements then existing.

Expenditure

Status of Parliamentary Appropriations

The salaries of the Commissioners were paid under the authority of section 4 of the Canada Grain Act and funds for other expenditures of the Board were provided by parliamentary appropriations under the Department of Agriculture (Votes 130 and 135) supplemented by funds provided by the Department of Finance (Vote 70).

A summary of the status of these appropriations follows:

Vote	Appropriation	Voted	Expended	Lapsed
Statutory	Salaries of Commissioners	$ 45,667	$ 45,667
Vote 130	Administration	173,500	170,814	$ 2,686
Vote 135 and 135e	Inspection and weighing of grain and related services	4,696,000
Vote 70	General Salaries (to supplement other votes)	271,010
		4,967,010	4,918,321	48,689
		5,186,177	5,134,802	51,375

EXPENDITURE—$5,411,731

In addition to the expenditure of funds amounting to $5,134,802, supplied under parliamentary appropriations, the following estimated costs of services provided by government departments were included:

Contributions to Superannuation Account (Department of Finance)	$ 249,323
Rent (Department of Public Works)	18,506
Employee compensation payments (Department of Labour)	8,400
Surgical-medical insurance premiums (Department of Finance)	600
Carrying of franked mail (Post Office)	100
	276,929

A summary of the various classes of expenditures which were charged to the parliamentary appropriations, compared with corresponding amounts for the preceding year, follows:

	March 31, 1964	March 31, 1963	Increase (Decrease)
Salaries of Commissioners	$ 45,667	$ 42,246	$ 3,421
Salaries and allowances—other	4,450,061	4,215,359	234,702
Rent	192,071	187,760	4,311
Travel	158,620	122,448	36,172
Printing and stationery	53,891	57,545	(3,654)
General expenses	234,492	222,904	11,588
	5,134,802	4,848,262	286,540

The increase in the salaries of Commissioners was authorized by an amendment to section 4 of the Canada Grain Act which became effective December 1, 1963 and raised the aggregate salaries of the three Commissioners to $53,000 per annum. The increase in other salaries and allowances is largely due to the increase of the volume in the movement of grains during the year over the previous year.

REVENUE

The following is a summary showing the sources of revenue for the past two years:

	March 31, 1964	March 31, 1963	Increase (Decrease)
Inspections	$ 2,033,410	$ 1,583,832	$ 449,578
Weighing	1,005,404	793,887	211,517
Registrations and cancellations	58,011	44,036	13,975
Licences	28,294	28,453	(159)
Grain appeals	3,069	2,349	720
Sundry revenue	560	59	501
	3,128,748	2,452,616	676,132

INSPECTION AND WEIGHING FEES—$3,038,814

The fees chargeable for the various inspection and weighing services performed by employees and officers of the Board, as set out in Schedule "A" to the Canada Grain Regulations published on August 31, 1963 in Part II of the Canada Gazette, are, for the most part based on volume of grain.

REGISTRATIONS AND CANCELLATIONS—$58,011

The Canada Grain Act requires the operator or manager of a terminal elevator to issue a terminal warehouse receipt covering any grain received. The registration fee set out in Schedule "A" to the Canada Grain Regulations is 4 cents per thousand bushels in the Western Division, and 1 cent per thousand bushels in the Eastern Division. A similar fee is prescribed for cancellation of these receipts.

LICENCES—$28,294

Licences are issued by the Board upon payment of fees required under the Canada Grain Act as follows:

Class	Section of Act	Fee
Mill Elevator	97	$ 5.00
Public Country Elevator	105	5.00
Private Country Elevator	105	5.00
Semi-Public Terminal	123	25.00
Private Terminal	123	25.00
Eastern Elevator	123	25.00
Commission Merchant	144	5.00
Track Buyer	148	5.00
Grain Dealer	153	5.00

Section 79 of the Act requires each applicant to furnish adequate security before a licence is granted and the measure of adequacy is defined by Board Minute dated July 28, 1959. For the crop year 1962-63 there were guarantee bonds aggregating $31,376,885 executed by fourteen accredited surety companies on behalf of licencees. Negotiable securities of $1,000, held in lieu of guarantee bonds, were examined by us and found in order.

GRAIN APPEALS—$3,069

There were 1,073 appeals from decisions of inspecting officers during the year compared with 841 appeals in 1962-63. The Appeal Board sustained the decisions of the inspectors in 1,023 cases and, in accordance with Board Regulations, collected a fee of $3.00 in each case.

ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE

Accounts receivable at March 31, 1964 amounted to $252,615 and of these accounts the sum of $3,780 remained unpaid as at June 15, 1964. Of this amount, $952 represents balances applicable to prior years and are considered uncollectible and $2,828 is in dispute, the validity of the debtors claims being under review by the Board.

PRAIRIE FARM ASSISTANCE ACT LEVY

The Prairie Farm Assistance Act, R.S. 1952, c.213, provides for a levy of one percent of the purchase price of all grain bought by licenced purchasers of grain. The levy is deducted by the purchasers and remitted to the Board and is deposited to the credit of the Receiver General for the Prairie Farm Emergency Fund. The amount received and deposited by the Board during the year amounted to $9,141,233.

We wish to acknowledge with appreciation the co-operation of the officers and employees of the Board.

A. M. HENDERSON,
Auditor General of Canada.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ELEVATORS

AUDITOR GENERAL OF CANADA

Ottawa, August 19, 1964.

The Chief Commissioner and Commissioners,
Board of Grain Commissioners for Canada,
Winnipeg, Manitoba.

We have examined the accounts and financial statements of the Canadian Government Elevators for the year ended March 31, 1964. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and included a general review of the accounting procedures and of the system of internal control, together with such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The Canadian Government Elevators comprise six terminal elevators located at Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Lethbridge and Prince Rupert. From headquarters in Winnipeg, the Board of Grain Commissioners manage and operate the elevators pursuant to section 166 of the Canada Grain Act and Order in Council P.C. 1372 of August 19, 1925.

For purposes of accounting and financial control, the Canadian Government Elevators function in the same manner as a branch of a department of the Government of Canada—expenditures being provided by parliamentary appropriations and cash receipts being deposited to the credit of the Receiver General. The revenues and expenditures of the Elevators are, therefore, included in the accounts of the Government of Canada which are examined and certified by the Auditor General.

For convenient reference we are attaching copies of the Balance Sheet as at March 31, 1964 and the Operating Statement for the year then ended. A copy of this report is being sent to the Minister of Agriculture for his information.

Operations for the Year

Operating Revenue—$1,084,013

A comparison of the various classes of revenue for the past two years follows:

	Year ended March 31, 1964	1963	Increase (Decrease)
Storage	$ 557,804	$ 821,614	$ (263,810)
Elevation	343,439	157,103	186,336
Drying	16,706	10,849	5,857
Cleaning	91,005	35,616	55,389
Screenings	75,059	473	74,586
Elevator rental		25,794	(25,794)
	1,084,013	1,051,449	32,564

During the year, 15,530,693 bushels of grain were received by the elevators compared with 6,252,400 in the previous year. The large volume of sales of wheat to China mainly accounted for the increase in movement of grain which, in turn, explains the increase in revenue from elevation, drying, cleaning, and screenings.

Normal practice in the grain trade is to allow free storage for the first five days on all grains received. The rapid turnover of wheat during the year, accompanied by shipments out of the elevators at Moose Jaw and Saskatoon, without replenishment of stocks, mainly accounts for the decrease in storage revenue.

No revenue was derived during the year from the rental of the elevator at Port Arthur which was sold on August 1, 1962.

Miscellaneous Revenue—$20,485.

The items which comprised this revenue, with corresponding amounts in parentheses for the previous year, were: overtime charges—$10,759 ($2,310); grade promotion—$5,124 ($806); rentals—$1,350 ($1,250); wharfage—$1,253; other—$1,999 ($7,646). The revenue from overtime, grade promotion and wharfage was earned in connection with loading of boats at Prince Rupert.

STATUS OF PARLIAMENTARY APPROPRIATION

As in prior years, funds for expenditures of the Canadian Government Elevators were provided by a parliamentary appropriation under the Department of Agriculture (Vote 140) supplemented by funds from the general salaries appropriation under the Department of Finance (Vote 70). The status of these appropriations at year-end were as follows:

Vote	Appropriation	Voted	Expended	Lapsed
140	Operation and Maintenance	$ 1,529,000
70	General Salaries (to supplement other votes)	4,200
		1,533,200	$ 1,506,839	$ 26,161

Reconciliation of the expenditures charged against the parliamentary appropriations with the operating expenditures, as shown in the Operating Statement, follows:

Expenditures—per Operating Statement		$ 1,509,179
Add:
Additions to plant and equipment	$ 37,469
Screenings purchased for resale	36,878
Grains purchased on weigh-overs	20,128
Increase in inventory of stores	5,549
		100,024
		1,609,203
Deduct:
Estimated cost of services provided without charge by government departments	100,663
Decrease in inventory of tools and small equipment	1,701
		102,364
Expenditures charged against parliamentary appropriations		1,506,839

EXPENDITURE—$1,509,179

A comparative summary of the operating expenditures for the last two years follows:

	Year ended March 31, 1964	1963	Increase (Decrease)
Salaries and wages	$ 885,665	$ 785,449	$ 100,216
Maintenance—buildings, plant and equipment	148,932	257,587	(108,655)
Grants in lieu of taxes	195,314	112,000	83,314
Power	83,858	65,094	18,764
Head Office expenses	59,441	61,587	(2,146)
Miscellaneous	35,306	32,310	2,996
Estimated cost of services provided without charge by government departments	100,663	90,197	10,466
	1,509,179	1,404,224	104,955

The movement of the large quantities of wheat, required under the sales agreement with China, necessitated the employment of a larger number of casual employees than is normally required and largely explains the increase in salaries and wages.

An adjustment, retroactive to January 1, 1961, with respect to grants in lieu of taxes was made during 1963-64. The effect of the adjustment was that these grants increased to $142,148 with respect to the year under review and a further sum of $53,166 was paid with respect to the two previous years. These grants are currently being paid to the cities of—

Moose Jaw	$ 34,183
Lethbridge	17,207
Edmonton	21,298
Prince Rupert	16,043
Saskatoon	36,491
Calgary	16,926
	142,148

Last year the programme for restoration of concrete bins was continued at all locations and $132,000 was absorbed as an expense. In addition, extensive repairs were made to flax cleaners, grain spouts, electrical apparatus and winches at Edmonton and Prince Rupert at a cost of $40,000. In comparison, during the year under review the cost of completing restoration of the concrete bins amounted to $86,000 and no extensive repairs were undertaken.

Prior to the year ended March 31, 1963, Head Office expenses were distributed equally to all elevators. Realizing that this was not altogether satisfactory, management adopted a formula for 1962-63 whereby 17% was divided equally among all elevators and the remaining 83% among those elevators showing a profit in the ratio of their respective profits for the year. In last year's report, we observed that distribution in this manner was not entirely satisfactory and that consideration be given to devising a more equitable basis.

We are pleased to note that an improved basis for distribution of these expenses was made for the year under review. The new formula provided for the division of 17% equally among all the elevators and the balance in the ratios of the capacities for storage, elevation and cleaning of each elevator.

In previous year's reports, we have suggested that operating costs should include charges for those services which are supplied without charge by government departments. This recommendation was adopted and, accordingly, the expenditures for the year include the estimated cost of the following services:

Contribution to the Public Service Superannuation Account (Department of Finance)	$ 57,982
Employee surgical-medical insurance premiums (Department of Finance)	30,700
Rent (Department of Public Works)	10,081
Employee compensation payments (Department of Labour)	1,900
	100,663

In order to permit fair comparison, the figures for the year ended March 31, 1963, were adjusted to include the estimated costs of the same services applicable to that year.

NET LOSS FOR THE YEAR—$304,018

The net profit or (loss) of each elevator during the past two years follows:

	Year ended March 31, 1964	1963
Port Arthur		$ 19,105
Moose Jaw	$ 5,804	44,821
Saskatoon	(76,579)	3,092
Calgary	(49,894)	(51,389)
Edmonton	(103,367)	(64,179)
Lethbridge	(130,456)	(72,026)
Prince Rupert	50,474	(129,991)
	(304,018)	(250,567)

The loss of $130,456 by the Lethbridge elevator was its nineteenth consecutive annual loss. The accumulated deficits during this period amounted to $820,567 without taking into account depreciation on plant and equipment.

Balance Sheet

ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE—$107,894

At year-end, advances for freight charges on grain received by the elevators amounted to $56,565 and sundry accounts for storage and elevation to $51,329. All the accounts which were outstanding on March 31 were recovered from owners of the relative grain during April 1964.

ACCRUED REVENUE—$145,498

This amount represents accruals for storage and elevation charges in respect of grain in storage at the year-end as evidenced by outstanding warehouse receipts certified by the Registrar of the Board of Grain Commissioners.

INVENTORIES—$203,234

Physical inventories of stores, small tools and equipment were taken by the superintendents of the several elevators at March 31, 1964 and valued at cost. The screenings on hand, as reported by the superintendents, and surplus grain on hand as evidenced by warehouse receipts, are valued at the prevailing market prices at March 31, 1964.

FIXED ASSETS—$10,403,624

The original cost of property, plant and equipment and furniture of the elevators comprise this amount. During the year additions amounted to $37,469 compared to $1,086 in the previous year.

Funds for the construction and/or acquisition of fixed assets are provided by annual parliamentary appropriation and it has not been the practice of the Elevators' management to include any provision for depreciation or obsolescence of plant and equipment in the operating costs of the Elevators.

The excess of revenues over expenditures returned to the Government of Canada by the Elevators, since inception in 1913, totalled $10,656,870, in respect of the following locations:

Moose Jaw	$ 4,211,262
Saskatoon	4,604,568
Calgary	1,724,106
Edmonton	715,902
Lethbridge	(762,575)
Prince Rupert	163,607
	10,656,870

GRAIN SHORTAGE—$909

This amount represents the liability of the Calgary Elevator for a shortage of grain on a weigh-over and permission has been granted by the Board of Grain Commissioners to defer purchase of the shortage until the next official weigh-over.

GOVERNMENT OF CANADA—ADVANCES FOR WORKING CAPITAL—$56,565

This sum is the aggregate of the advances made from the Consolidated Revenue Fund, in accordance with section 166(3) of the Canada Grain Act for payment of freight charges on grain received by the Elevators.

PROPRIETARY EQUITY OF THE GOVERNMENT OF CANADA—$10,802,776

This item represents the cost of the fixed assets of the Elevators that have been acquired out of funds provided by parliamentary appropriations aggregating $10,403,624 together with a surplus of $399,152.

The net loss for the year, as shown in the Operating Statement, amounted to $304,018 while the funds provided by parliamentary appropriations exceeded remittances to the Receiver General by $235,738. As a result, the balance of surplus decreased by $68,280.

In my opinion, subject to the foregoing comments, the attached Balance Sheet gives a true and fair view of the state of the affairs of the Canadian Government Elevators as at March 31, 1964, and the related Operating Statement gives a true and fair view of the operations for the year then ended, according to the best of my information and the explanations given to me, and as shown by the books of the Elevators.

The co-operation of the officers and employees of the Elevators during the course of the examination is acknowledged with appreciation.

GEO. LONG,
for Auditor General of Canada.

Such services included: technical education; hospital and medical services; promotion of agriculture, stock-raising and fruit culture; aids to Indians in fishing, hunting and trapping; and the development of irrigation systems. Vote 25 Grants to provinces and municipalities for civil defence and related purposes (formerly provided under Department of National Defence—comparable amount in 1962-63 $4,800,000) 5,300,000

Expenditures ..... (20) $ 4,424,285

T.B. 590318, January 10, 1962, prescribed terms and conditions under which grants are available to provinces and municipalities for general civil defence purposes.

The authority provides that the province may submit and recommend a project within the following classifications:

(i) organization, administration and training expenditures, including training exercises;

(ii) equipment and clothing, including uniforms, required for administration, training, and operations, for which there is normally no peacetime use other than for civil defence;

(iii) construction and alterations for civil defence purposes; and

(iv) operational equipment having a peacetime use.

Generally, the province must undertake to: (a) furnish a detailed statement of the cost of the project and the proportion thereof to be provided from provincial or municipal funds, (b) furnish to the Minister from time to time as he may require, reports covering the development of the projects, and (c) maintain adequate records and accounts and afford the Minister every facility for inspection thereof. Payment (within the amount available to a province) is based upon a statement of the actual expenditures during the fiscal year and amounts to: (a) in the case of projects classified as (i), (ii) and (iii) above, an amount not exceeding 25 cents per capita, or 75 per cent of total expenditures on the project, whichever is the lesser, and (b) in the case of a project classified as (iv) above, an amount equal to the amount actually expended by the province. Provision is made for payment in some cases to a municipal civil defence organization rather than to the province.

Revenues arising from the above expenditures amounted to $187,891 and consisted of refunds from provinces.

A statement by provinces follows:

Payments to the Canadian Universities Foundation for the purpose of making grants to institutions of higher learning, the Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements Act, c. 58, 1961, as amended ..... (20) $26,778,000

The above Act as amended by c. 14, 1962 authorized the Minister of Finance, with the approval of the Governor in Council, to enter into an agreement with the Canadian Universities Foundation, providing, for any fiscal year commencing on or after the first day of April, 1962, for payment of amounts to the Foundation for the purpose of making grants to institutions of higher learning in any province.

Section 8A of the amending statute authorized the Minister of Finance, for the purpose of grants to institutions of higher learning, to pay to the Canadian Universities Foundation an amount equivalent to two dollars multiplied by the population of each province that was not prescribed. The Foundation distributed the amount according to the terms and conditions of an agreement entered into between the Government of Canada and the Foundation.

The Minister of Finance was empowered by the Act to declare a province a prescribed province where in his opinion satisfactory arrangements exist for the payment by the province directly to institutions of higher learning in the province of an amount which is equal to or greater than two dollars multiplied by the province's population and where the payment is made on terms and conditions not inconsistent with those contained in the agreement between the Government of Canada and the Canadian Universities Foundation. A prescribed province is entitled to an abatement of one per cent of the corporation income tax. If the value of the abatement exceeds the amount of two dollars multiplied by the population of the province, the amount of the excess is deducted from any payment made to the province under the Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements Act; if the value of the abatement is less than two dollars per capita, an amount is paid to the province which together with the value of the abatement will equal two dollars per capita.

For the fiscal year commencing April 1, 1963, Quebec was declared a prescribed province by P.C. 1964-90. The value of the one per cent corporation income tax abatement to Quebec for 1963 was estimated at $10,721,111, the two dollars per capita amounted to $10,936,000 resulting in a payment of $214,889 being made to Quebec under the Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements Act.

A further payment to Quebec of $1,296,933 was made with respect to the 1962 abatement. This adjustment was made necessary by the receipt from the Department of National Revenue of information as to the value of the one per cent corporation income tax abatement in 1962.

EXCHANGE FUND ACCOUNT

AUDITOR GENERAL OF CANADA

Ottawa, March 31, 1964.

THE HONOURABLE WALTER L. GORDON,
MINISTER OF FINANCE,
OTTAWA.

Sir,

In accordance with the requirement of subsection 2 of section 27 of the Currency, Mint and Exchange Fund Act, I have made an audit of the Exchange Fund Account and of the transactions in connection therewith for the year ended December 31, 1963.

The audit was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and included a review of the accounting procedures and of the system of internal control together with such tests of the accounting records and other supporting evidence as were considered necessary in the circumstances.

Section 23 of the Act provides for advances to the Exchange Fund Account out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund and by Order in Council P.C. 1962-1459 of October 16, 1962 the Minister is authorized to make such advances to an amount of $3,000,000,000. The amount actually advanced as at December 31, 1963 was $2,689,000,000 a net increase during the year of $38,000,000. The accompanying statement shows that the Account held investments, currency and gold amounting to $2,573,065,007 in United States funds at December 31, 1963, value of which in terms of Canadian currency at the par rate amounted to $2,781,689,118.

Under authority of the Bretton Woods Agreements Act and with the concurrence of the International Monetary Fund, the Governor in Council fixed on May 2, 1962, for the purpose of the Agreement for an International Monetary Fund, the par value of the Canadian dollar at one dollar equals .92½ United States dollar or, in terms of the Canadian dollar, the United States dollar equals $1.08108108. It has been the practice in past years to value the holdings at December 31 in terms of the Canadian dollar at the closing market rate of exchange but this practice has been discontinued during the year under review in favour of valuing the holdings in terms of Canadian dollars at par of exchange. As a consequence, the valuation of the Account's holdings at December 31, 1963 is $366,662 greater than the figure which would have resulted had the closing market rate of $1.00 U.S. equals $1.0809375 been used.

In my opinion, the transactions in connection with the Account have been in accordance with the provisions of this Act and the accompanying statement gives a fair summary of the transactions in connection with the Account for the year ended December 31, 1963 and shows truly and clearly the state of the Account as at that date.

A. M. HENDERSON,
Auditor General of Canada.

FISHERIES RESEARCH BOARD OF CANADA

The Fisheries Research Board of Canada, replacing the Biological Board of Canada, was established by the Fisheries Research Board Act, c. 121, R.S., as amended, to have charge of all Federal fishery research stations in Canada and to conduct and have the control of investigations of practical and economic problems connected with marine and fresh water fisheries, flora and fauna, and such other work as may be assigned to it by the Minister.

The research work conducted by the Board includes all phases of the biology of fish stocks—including their reproduction, growth, enemies, behaviour and catchability; it also investigates the physics and chemistry of oceans and lakes as they affect fish production, methods and apparatus for catching fish and other valuable marine organisms, and the handling, processing, chemical composition, nutritive value and utilization of all fishery products.

The board consists of a chairman and not more than eighteen other members. A majority of the members of the Board, not including the chairman, shall be scientists and the remaining members of the Board shall be representative of the department and the fishing industry. As at 31 March, 1964 the Board was comprised of the chairman, 10 scientific members, 7 members representing the fishing industry and 1 representing the department.

Section 14 of the Act provides that the Board may expend such sums as are necessary for its work from moneys appropriated by Parliament, or from funds received through bequests, donations, the sale of natural history specimens, or from any other source.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE COMMISSION

The Unemployment Insurance Act, c. 50, 1955, as amended, has a two-fold purpose, namely, the payment of unemployment insurance benefits to insured workers involuntarily unemployed, and the creation of a national employment service to assist employees and employers in the solution of their employment problems. In addition, the Act provides for the establishment of a special account in the Consolidated Revenue Fund to be known as the unemployment insurance fund—see unemployment insurance fund under the schedule, Annuity, Insurance and Pension Accounts, in Volume I of this report. Also see the appendix to this section for the balance sheet of the unemployment insurance fund as at March 31, 1964, and the statement of receipts and disbursements for the year ended March 31, 1964. The moneys credited to this fund are derived from contributions made by employed persons, employers of such persons and the Government of Canada and are to be utilized only for the payment of unemployment insurance benefits and any other payments permissible under the Act.

Sir,

Although no change has yet been made in the Unemployment Insurance Act giving effect to the recommendation of the Standing Committee on Public Accounts and the Committee of Inquiry into the Unemployment Insurance Act that the annual financial statements of the Commission be reported upon by the Auditor General, in keeping with the practice begun two years ago, the Commission has submitted its financial statements for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1964 to me for audit and report to you.

I now report that, in my opinion, the Statement of Position and the related Statement of Receipts and Disbursements of the Unemployment Insurance Fund present a fair view of the state of the Fund as at March 31, 1964 and a fair summary of the transactions for the year then ended.

Yours faithfully,

A. M. HENDERSON,
Auditor General of Canada.

THE HONOURABLE ALLAN J. MACEACHEN,
MINISTER OF LABOUR,
OTTAWA.

GENERAL

Payments under the Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Act, c. 95, R.S., as amended (20) $14,967,203

Assistance is provided to gold mining operators under the above Act to retard the closure of mines induced by increasing costs of production and a fixed price for gold, with the view to providing support for dependent communities. The Act was passed on May 14, 1948, with payment effective for a period of three years from January 1, 1948, and has been extended subsequently from time to time. An amendment passed on December 12, 1963, extended the Act to the end of 1967.

The amount of assistance payable to the operator of a gold mine is calculated by a formula consisting of two factors: the "rate of assistance" which is based on the cost per ounce of gold produced from the mine, and the "assistance ounces" which are a specified proportion of the total ounces of gold produced. The assistance payable is computed under the current formula by adding twenty-five per cent to the product of the rate of assistance and the number of assistance ounces. The rate of assistance factor is two-thirds of the amount by which the average cost of production per ounce of gold for the calendar year exceeds $26.50. The number of assistance ounces is two-thirds of the total number of ounces produced in the calendar year. The amount of assistance per ounce increases as the average cost of production per ounce increases from $26.50 to $45.00. A maximum rate of assistance of $12.33 per ounce precludes an increase in the amount of assistance per ounce as the average cost of production rises above $45.00 per ounce. To be eligible for assistance, a mine must produce at least fifty ounces of gold in a calendar year, and the value of the gold produced must be seventy per cent or more of the total value of the output of the mine.

Expenditures to date amounted to $188,057,416 including the balance of $2,161,450 in Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Holdbacks (see under the schedule, Deposit and Trust Accounts, in Volume I of this report) to provide for payment of holdbacks after final audit.

The following statement shows the payments to mine operators in the current fiscal year and total assistance to March 31, 1964, under the above statutory authority.

The variation between the appropriation and the total of expenditures charged thereto is due mainly to the following: (a) construction of buildings and works, major contract projects—cancellation of the Gap Filler construction program, Penhold runways, Summerside school and married quarters program and delay in approval to proceed with the construction of special armament sites and quick reaction alert facilities; (b) major procurement of equipment, (i) aircraft and engines—the original estimate of requirement of 24 CF104 dual aircraft was reduced to 16, (ii) electronic and communications equipment—delays in arranging contracts for various types of electronic equipment, delays in deliveries of sonobuoys by reason of technical difficulties in production and the deferment of a considerable portion of the new procurement program by reason of unresolved engineering and developmental problems.

Revenues arising from the above expenditures amounted to $577,289 resulting from sharing of costs of aircraft by the Governments of the Netherlands, Belgium and Italy.

Expenditures included ex-gratia payments of $100 or over as follows:

AUDITOR GENERAL OF CANADA

Ottawa, June 23, 1964.

THE CHAIRMAN AND MEMBERS,
NATIONAL FILM BOARD,
OTTAWA.

I have examined the accounts and financial statements of the National Film Board for the year ended March 31, 1964 and have obtained all the information and explanations I have required. My examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and of the system of internal control, together with such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion, the accompanying Balance Sheet and Statement of Income and Expense present fairly the financial position of the Board as at March 31, 1964 and the results of its operations for the year ended on that date.

A. M. HENDERSON,
Auditor General of Canada.
